BERLIN MINISTRY HAS BAVARIAN AS WELL AS NEW SAXONY PROBLEM

German Government Has Decided to Disband "Proletarian Hundreds" in Saxony and Recall Gen. Mueller From There and Gen. Lossow From Bavaria to Stamp Out Extremist Movements

Berlin, Oct. 19.—It was reported here to-day that the dispute between the Federal Government and the Government of Saxony will be solved by the former displacing General von Mueller, commander of the Reichswehr in Saxony, whose mode of procedure is said to have been too harsh. This action, the report adds, will be accompanied by a rebuke to the Government of Saxony for its interference in the politics of the republic.

The Stresemann Government also is confronted with another unpleasant prospect, for it is reported to have decided to recall General von Lossow, commander of the Reichswehr in Bavaria, who appears to be unable to withstand the domination of Dr. von Kahr, the Bavarian dictator. Such action, it is considered, is likely to meet with strong opposition from the Bavarian Government and thus increase the tension already prevailing between Berlin and Munich.

Although nothing has been officially announced regarding the measures Minister of Defence General proposes to take in connection with Saxony, it is understood that the Government has determined that "Proletarian Hundreds" shall be disbanded by the Saxon police, and if the latter are not up to the task then troops will be used to eliminate the extremist military organization.

Dr. Alfred E. Lavell Speaks of Ontario's Endeavor

Use Indeterminable Sentence, and Extra-Mural Permits

"Much can be done for the criminal without coddling him, and a policy of post penal supervision can be designed to the benefit of the prisoner," said Dr. Alfred E. Lavell, who is chief adviser of the Board of Parole of the Province of Ontario. This board, which is composed of representatives of the various branches of the law, is now considering the question of the parole system in Ontario, which is being imposed by the courts less than two years in duration, and thus controls the inmates of the provincial penitentiaries.

Dr. Lavell arrived in the city this morning, and is registered at the Empress Hotel.

In addition to the definite sentence imposed by the Court, there is also in Ontario an indeterminable sentence which may be added to the sentence, limited to two years less one day, he told The Times. Thus a man may have twelve months' sentence, and a period not specified of supervision thereafter. It is in that period that the board operates. It does not clash with the Dominion parole system, which is a part of the sentence imposed by the Court, but only take charge of the prisoner after the expiry of the definite term.

The Board of Parole assumes that a prisoner may become homeless, friendless, reckless, and workless when leaving an institution without any prospect of employment, and work for him to go to on leaving prison, but during the period of probation he is subject to the custody of the Board's representative.

New York, Oct. 19.—A violent easterly gale, which swept down on the steamship Aquitania as she was passing Nantucket last night caused the vessel to lurch sharply, upsetting saloon passengers gathered in the lounge room and causing injuries to fourteen, officers declared on arrival of the ocean liner to-day.

Captain Sir James Charles said the storm was the worst he had seen in his forty-three years at sea.

Winnipeg, Oct. 19.—Approval in principle of a central steam heating plant for two downtown areas was given last night at an informal meeting of the Winnipeg City Council and orders were issued for the preparation of a money-by-law of $375,000 for its construction. The ratepayers of the city probably will vote on the project at the forthcoming civic election, and if approved, the plant will be ready for operation by November, 1924.

It is stated that steam heat can be supplied at $1.25 a thousand pounds.

Army Draft Evader Arrested in Minnesota

Disappeared in 1918; Disguised Himself as Mother

Fort Snelling, Minn., Oct. 19.—Frank Schweighofer, thirty-three, of Stratford, Wis., was brought to Fort Snelling yesterday on a charge of draft evasion and probably will face a court martial within three weeks, officers of the post said. Schweighofer disappeared in 1918, after his name had been drawn for military duty, and was discovered three weeks ago when his mother died.

During the five years he hid in his mother's home, working a farm at night and going out in the day disguised in his mother's clothing.

$25,000 HOLD-UP
IN PHILADELPHIA

Bandits Took Cash and Jewelry From Pawn Shop

Philadelphia, Oct. 19.—Four armed motor bandits held up Kennedy Brothers' pawnshop in the business section to-day and escaped with jewelry and cash estimated at $25,000. The holdup occurred one block from a police station.

Exciting Scenes IN DUBLIN TO-DAY

Crowds of Women Gathered About Mountjoy Prison; Hunger Strikers There

Troops Fired; Many Persons Trampled Upon; Others Fainted

Dublin, Oct. 19.—Exciting scenes occurred outside Mountjoy Prison here to-day when crowds of women congregated in an effort to prevent the removal of hunger striking prisoners. The troops failed to clear the streets and shots were fired, causing a stampede in which many persons were trampled on and others fainted.

Dublin, Oct. 19.—Discovery of a tunnel used by prisoners for communication between their cells was reported to-day by the authorities of Mountjoy Prison, where several hundred Republican soldiers recently started a hunger strike. The authorities declare none of the prisoners are seriously ill because of the strike.

The publicity department of the republican organization says sixty strikers were released unconditionally on Wednesday. They assert that those remaining were in a weak condition.

The hunger strike for the present is confined to two jails.

PHYSICIANS' COURSE AFFECTS 15,000,000

National Health Fund Doctors in Britain Refuse Cut in Fees

To Strike Jan. 1, But Plan For Medical Work Arranged

London, Oct. 19.—It is estimated that 15,000,000 contributors to the National Health Fund will be affected by the action of the "Panel Doctors' Union" in refusing to accept a reduction in fees proposed by the Minister of Health. The physicians decided to strike on January 1 if the cut in their stipend was ordered.

The disgruntled physicians, however, are careful to announce that they do not intend to let the public suffer and that they have already drafted a plan for public medical service which will meet the situation.

Other Grievances
It is clear from the statement of the doctors that the reduction in their fees by the Health Minister is not their only grievance. They also complain against the insurance societies through which the present arrangement is operated, charging that these organizations dictate to them in an intolerable manner.

Many Critics
The threatened strike and its causes are arousing the greatest interest throughout the country. The insurance scheme provided by David Lloyd George's act of 1911 has many critics and it is widely, although not universally, regarded as not the best possible one. The approved societies to which all the contributors belong heretofore have paid seven shillings three pence annually for each member, the Government making up the difference between that sum and the doctors' fees. At present the pay of the doctors is nine shillings six pence annually for each patient they are responsible for. The proposed reduction would cut the rate to eight shillings six pence.

NAVY LEAGUE TAG DAY SATURDAY

Appeal to Public For Organization Educating Boys in Seamanship

Appropriately coinciding with the eve of the anniversary of Trafalgar Day and Nelson's famous message, the Victoria branch of the Navy League of Canada will to-morrow hold a tag day for its funds.

Only those in direct touch with the Navy League have any conception of the quiet but effective work it is doing. Now that the naval colleges have been disbanded, the league is the only organization in Canada carrying on the work of educating the youth of Canada in seamanship. The success of its efforts in this direction may be gauged from the splendid reports which have been given of the boys now at sea in merchant vessels who owed their first training to the league.

Such work requires money. Expenses are kept to a minimum through the generous help of the local officials whose services are purely voluntary.

The local branch hopes that Victorians will remember Nelson's message to-morrow and give generously to the support of an undertaking which is in every respect a most commendable and worthy cause.

Middle Park Race
in England Won
To-day by Diapason

London, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press Cable).—The Middle Park Stakes, for two-year-olds colts and fillies, run over the six-furlong Brethby Knight course and the feature event of the closing day of the second October meeting at Newmarket, was won to-day by Diapason, a length and a half, with His Majesty's Knight second, Lord Rosebery's Plack, a chestnut filly, by Harry On-Grand, finished second, beaten by a length and a half, with His Majesty's Knight third, beaten by a length. Eleven ran. Diapason started favorite, 2-1 against. Plack was quoted at 7-2 against and Knight of the Garter at 100-8 against.

The Middle Park Stakes, carrying an approximate value of £200 for the winner, and the Dewhurst Plate, run at Newmarket Houghton on November 1, are considered the final and most conclusive tests of two-year-olds' form and the winner of one or the other of these races is generally established as the Winter Derby favorite.

DECLARATION MADE AMERICAN WOMAN BECOMING UGLY

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 19.—The American woman is rapidly becoming ugly, Albert Edward Wiggam, biologist and publisher of New York, declared in an address prepared for delivery here today before a group of Kansas teachers.

"Our beautiful women soon will cease to exist except in pictures and statuary," Mr. Wiggam asserted. He based his conclusion on the disparity between the birthrate among American women of the high-class type and that among low class immigrants.

"There is only one way out," he said. "The old family ideals must be restored. The old American home, with its good sized family of well-born children must be rebuilt. The mother must replace the flapper as the national ideal."

DISTRIBUTION OF NEWS IMPORTANT

often in the disguise of local loyalty, that afflicts, sometimes unconsciously, our scattered Canadian people. We have had crises that made us anxious, but the Canadian newspaper publishers have always, often examining the alternatives broadly and thoroughly, realized that both sentimentally and economically Canadians are and must be one people.

"In such a spirit did the western newspaper publications at a meeting the other day in Winnipeg decide to maintain at their own heavy expense the leased wires from Ottawa to Winnipeg—wires through hundreds of miles of unpopulated country—and thus maintain the talking link between East and West. The Dominion Government has hitherto bridged this chasm, and the other two gaps, Calgary-Vancouver, and Montreal-Halifax, for the national advantage of Canada."

"But the Government has now withdrawn from that arrangement, hence our present problem."

"The British Columbia newspapers have the choice of a short haul for the world's news via Seattle, or of bearing the much heavier financial burden of maintaining the leased wires from Calgary. If they choose the former their Eastern colleagues of the Canadian Press will not blame them, because they realize the similarity of interest on the Pacific coast that makes some Seattle connection imperative, but if, as we hope, they retain the Calgary wires we shall have the decision of one evidencing again the willingness of the newspapers generally to do all they possibly can to make of Canadian news one national, with mutual interests and ambitions."

Incidentally Mr. Smith mentioned that the leased wire connection between the newspapers of Canada cost the Canadian Press annually $500,000.

ONE-MAN RULE DAYS GONE FOREVER. PREMIER ASSERTS

Members of Legislature to Decide Personal Property Tax Issue

There is no longer any such thing as one-man Government in British Columbia. Premier Oliver emphasized this to-day when he issued the following statement:

"I have noted, according to a Victoria dispatch to a Vancouver morning newspaper, that I have been severely criticized at a meeting of the Victoria Branch of the Retail Merchants' Association for failure to give relief from the burden of the tax on personal property."

"When the deputation representing the Retail Merchants' Association called upon a committee of the Executive Council, composed of the Finance Minister and myself, they were told very distinctly that we were only a committee of the Executive Council, and that we had no authority to report back to the Executive Council. They were further informed that the Legislature would have to be consulted before any promise of relief could be given. The day of a one-man Government in British Columbia has passed and I hope forever. I would not for a moment of ignoring my colleagues of the Legislature on such an important question as this."

"There is no legitimate ground for criticism of the action of either myself or my colleague, Mr. Hart, in this matter, the deputation being verily told that the representations would have very careful consideration, both from the Cabinet and from the Legislature."

Nine Months 73,934,000
Pounds

Exports to United States
Totalled 114,000 Pounds

OTTAWA, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press).—"Canada's exports of bacon to Great Britain rose almost 2,000,000 pounds during the first nine months of the current calendar year. For this period, the exports were 72,217,000 pounds of Canadian bacon shipped to the British market, while this year the corresponding figure rose to 73,934,000 pounds.

The same comparison regarding bacon exported to the United States shows a small falling off, according to the returns published by the market intelligence service of the Department of Agriculture. The total exports of Canadian bacon to the United States during the nine months this year were only 114,000 pounds.

CANNERY MANAGER DIES SUDDENLY

Alfred W. Carter, of Findlay, Durham and Brodie, Passes Away

MANSON'S LIQUOR LAW WORKS BEST

British Columbia's liquor law under Attorney-General Manson is more effective in discouraging illicit manufacture than is the liquor law of Quebec, according to figures which reached the Parliament Buildings to-day from Ottawa.

The Dominion Government excise department figures show seventy seizures in the year in B.C. compared with 453 in Quebec.

Before the days of prohibition seizures for the sale of Canada were about twenty a year. Now the yearly average is 2,000.

Figures for seizures for the last ten months are: Ontario, 1,200; Quebec, 1,200; B.C., 59; Alberta, 257; Saskatchewan, 280; Manitoba, 242; New Brunswick, 90; P.E. Island, 27; Nova Scotia, 103.

VETERANS LOSE BIG CONVENTION

U.S. Legion Will Meet in St. Paul Next Year

The Great War Veterans put Victoria to the fore in bidding for the 1924 convention of the American Legion, but, after months of advertising, they secured for the city, they failed to reach their objective. At the zero hour the Seattle delegation went over the top to win the convention. It was repulsed by greater numbers. The advocates of St. Paul gained the victory, and the United States veterans of the Great War will hold their next year's deliberations.

PAROLE SYSTEM IN PROVINCIAL JAILS

and the scheme has been found to operate very successfully.

Last year out of 440 cases 420 had used the system to advantage, there being five per cent. of failures against an average of eight per cent. in such cases.

Extra-Mural System

There is also maintained in connection with the prisons, said Dr. Lavell, an extra-mural permit system, to enable prisoners with families to go for a living outside the jail under supervision, and also to allow a similar privilege to very young offenders. In three years during which this system has been in operation, only a few prisoners have abused its privileges, last year satisfactory reports being received from 272 out of 1,000 cases.

The effect, apart from the moral value had been to save the Province a large sum of money, as well as assist the families of prisoners. Dr. Lavell pointed out that a very close scrutiny was maintained of those permitted to exercise this privilege, and it has proved of value to the public as well as to the prisoners.

Between Two Extremes

Dr. Lavell said the Parole Board could not be accused of condoning criminals. Its effort was to make a margin between sentimentality and punitive vindictiveness. The fact that the Canadian Bar Association had endorsed the Ontario system was one proof of its value in public esteem. He understood the British Columbia representatives on that association were not in favor of the parole system, and he believed such attitude was to some extent due to a misunderstanding of the ticket-of-leave system in connection with certain penal institutions, turning loose on the public prisoners of bad principles and irresponsible morals.

Dr. Lavell will present some data on Ontario's experience with criminals, while in the city, to Hon. A. M. Manning, Attorney-General, hoping that the principle may be applied to the prison system of this Province.

STEEL WORKERS LOST THEIR LIVES

Montreal, Oct. 19.—Mrs. A. Fuzze, fifty-three, of St. Alexis, was killed and Miss Bernadette Asselin, twenty, a neighbor, was badly injured when a Canadian National Railway train crashed into their automobile while it was stalled on a level crossing at Joliette last night.

PATULLO REPLIES TO HINGHLIFFE'S TIMBER ATTACK

No Unmanufactured Lumber Can be Exported Under B.C. Laws

Says Victoria Member Seeking to Place Government in False Position

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, to-day replied to the attack made on him and his department with which Joshua Hinchliffe, M.P.P., opened the Fall season of political activities this week. The attack centered on the export of manufactured timber from this Province and he asserted that $1,000,000 a year was being lost to the people of the Province because of these exports.

Mr. Pattullo said that the attack was undoubtedly designed to lead the public to believe that export was being allowed which should not be allowed, and as a consequence B. C. was losing the benefit of manufacture that could take place within the confines of the Province.

"I have repeatedly stated that the policy of the Government is that manufacture shall take place within the Province," Mr. Pattullo said. "I have also pointed out, and now reiterate, that with regard to export operations which have taken place from Crown-granted lands there is no provincial authority to prohibit."

Crown Granted Timber.

"The only export that has been allowed from licensed areas are the minor products from a major operation, for which there is no local market."

"For the year ending 1922, the total export of unmanufactured logs was approximately 151,518,724 feet. Of this amount approximately 103,000,000 feet was from Crown-granted lands, which the Province had no power to stop, and only 48,000,000 feet from licensed areas. The total cut in the Province last year was approximately 2,000,000,000 feet, so that out of a total of 2,000,000,000 feet only 48,000,000 feet was exported under permit, and permit was only given covering this amount because of the fact that the amount constitutes a surplus from operations for which there was no market."

"With regard to the shipment of baby squares to Japan, these squares, I believe, are largely used in Japan in the state in which they arrive, and are not the subject of any further export."

"Under the Forest Act it is considered that any timber that is squared on four sides is manufactured timber, and therefore is exportable. I do not think it possible to carry refinement of manufacture further. There is no difference of opinion as to the desirability of manufacture within the Province to the highest refinement, but outside purchasers require timber for various purposes, and when an order is sent for a square it is impossible to say that it will not be used for structural purposes, and to refuse to allow the export of squares would result in driving the business elsewhere and be a serious blow to the timber industry in the Province."

"I think it may be said that all parties in the Province are in favor of manufacture to the greatest possible extent within the Province. Those who are trying to create an impression that the present administration has any other policy than mine are merely trying to gain a little political kudos."

"The timber industry is in a more flourishing condition than it has been heretofore, and I am glad to say that the outlook is promising."

CANADA'S TRADE GREATER IN VOLUME

But Lower in Value, Owing to Deflation of Prices

Ottawa, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press).—Canadian trade expansion during the fiscal year of 1922-23 was very satisfactory and indicated a revival of commerce and industry, according to the annual report issued by the Department of Trade and Commerce to-day.

Though the volume of last year's trade was much in excess of that for the years 1922 and 1921, it was millions of dollars less in value than for those years owing to the deflation of prices. In comparison with 1920, the increase is approximately 240 per cent.

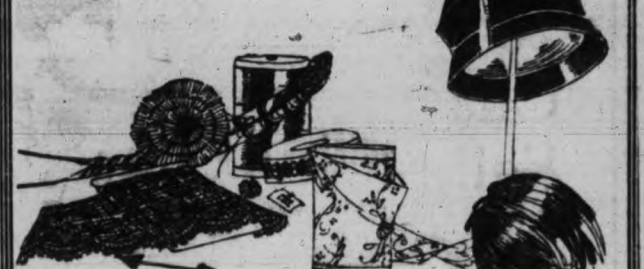

Wheat

As an example of the deflation in prices, it is pointed out that while the exportation of wheat during the last fiscal year was 215,074,556 bushels, an increase of sixty-six per cent. over the export figure for 1921, the valuation showed a decrease of nineteen per cent. from $210,522,128 to $252,145,505. The same consideration applies to practically all of Canada's exports. During the last fiscal year 4,425 automobiles at a valuation of $27,050,829 were exported, as against 19,910 in 1921, when prices brought a total valuation of $19,973,121.

Bacon and Cattle

Bacon exports showed an increase as between 1922 and 1921 of three per cent. in volume, with a decrease of twenty-eight per cent. in valuation; cattle, a volume increase of two per cent. as against a financial decrease of fifty-six per cent.; wood pulp, an increase of eighteen per cent. in tonnage with a cash decrease of forty per cent.

Saskatoon, Oct. 19.—A third victim may be marked up against Marshall Douglas, forty, of Turtleford, Sask., who is held by provincial police at Prince Albert on a charge of having murdered his two children, aged seven and five. The children's heads were battered in and then their throats were cut with a razor.

THE LUNATIC

A gentleman called at our office the other day and said: "I want to ask about my income tax, if you know."

"Ah," we sighed sympathetically. "I want to know," he said. "About this, the last year I had to borrow money to pay the tax on my income; this year I had to borrow money to pay that back and pay this year's taxes, and next year I got to sell my house to pay 'em all and my taxes. Now, how much does the Government owe me for what I ain't got?"

MADE STUDY OF FOSSIL REMAINS

J. H. McGregor, American
Prof. Has New Theory About
Pithecanthropus Erectus

Believes Specimen Was a
"Woman Ape," Not "Man Ape"

New York, Oct. 19.—The first man to have been a woman.
This was the opinion expressed yesterday by Professor J. H. McGregor, Research Associate in Human Anatomy of the American Museum of Natural History, who recently returned from Europe, where he studied the fossil remains of Pithecanthropus erectus, or the "man ape." The specimen was discovered at Trinil, Java, 1891-92, by Professor Eugene Dubois, of the University of Amsterdam. Many experts have written about the "missing link" with the Pithecanthropus erectus as their subject.
Professor McGregor said the idea that the "man ape" may have been a "woman ape" is based on measurements of the left thigh bone. Instead of being straight up and down like a man's, it has obliquity of form, similar to a woman's.

Professor McGregor said he was of the opinion that the specimen was close to man, although not necessarily ancestral.

"As someone has well expressed it," he said, "it may be a great uncle rather than a grandmother."

CANADIAN-U.S. CONFERENCE TO END NARCOTIC TRAFFIC

Buffalo, N.Y., Oct. 19.—Plans for an international conference here on the illicit narcotic traffic to be attended by Canadian and United States officials, beginning Monday, are expected to be mapped out before the end of the week, with the arrival of Colonel L. G. Nutt, chief of the Narcotic Division at Washington.

In addition to Colonel Nutt, among those expected to attend are W. F. Cowan, chief of the Opium and Narcotic Division of the Department of Health of Canada, and Superintendent G. S. Worley of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

MINING INSTITUTE CONDEMNS COAST RANGE STEEL PLAN

Executive Scores H. J. Landahl's Attitude Toward Investigators' Queries

Lorne Campbell Calls it
Scheme Doomed to Failure

Trail, Oct. 19.—By adopting the report of its executive committee, the British Columbia division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy by unanimous vote condemned the proposal for a government subsidy to the Coast Range Steel Company.

The report stated that efforts to obtain information from H. J. Landahl, the promoter, had been met with terse correspondence and the charge that the advisory council of the Coast Range Company feared that the mental capacity of the institute was too limited to comprehend the company's plans.

Randolph Bruce congratulated the executive on its action and he referred to the report in The Canada Gazette of a meeting in London urging Hon. John Hart, Provincial Minister of Finance, to support the company's demands for the grant.

Iron Ore From Mexico
Lorne Campbell, general manager of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company, condemned the scheme in unmeasured terms. He said he had attended the banquet in Vancouver in connection with the matter, and was a member of the committee appointed to investigate the Coast Range Steel enterprise.

Mr. Landahl had appeared before the committee and had admitted that it was proposed to obtain iron ore for the industry from Mexico and coke from the State of Washington. Any such scheme, declared Mr. Campbell, could be of no advantage to British Columbia.

He also stated that whereas the Coast Range Steel Company claimed that the cost of producing pig iron was from $12 to $15 a ton, millwrights, such as required in the industry, would alone cost $15 a ton laid down at Vancouver.

Would Mean Big Loss
The industries of the country were already taxed to death and they simply could not stand any further increase without being put out of business, Mr. Campbell continued. The people of the interior had never asked for such government subsidies for their industries, which were vastly more important than the one contemplated, and they had proved a success, whereas the Coast Range Steel project could not but prove a failure, involving the Province in heavy financial loss in the event of a guarantee.

If the people of the coast were determined to support such rotten schemes to add to the burden of public debt and taxation, then the people of the interior should organize, go straight to the coast and put out of business those responsible for such schemes, said the speaker.

Old Country Firm Building
Water Turbines to Produce
Electrical Power

London, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press Cable).—In addition to the 750 tons of water turbines shipped to India and New Zealand in the last three months, the Vickers Company has secured a substantial order from Winnipeg to supply three units of 3,300 horsepower each.

Cost is $283,000
Winnipeg, Oct. 19.—The order with the Vickers Company for three units was placed some weeks ago at a cost of $283,000 for the Winnipeg Hydro Electric System and delivery will be made in three successive years, 1924, 1925 and 1926.

The machinery is being purchased by the power system for development of additional power at the Point Dubois plant, and will enable the hydro to deliver an additional 30,000 horsepower in the city of Winnipeg by 1926. The additional equipment is being installed to meet the rapid increase in the demand for electrical power both for commercial and domestic uses.

SUSPECTED MEN NOT TRAIN THUGS

Three Held in California Able to Account For Movements

Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 19.—O. J. Underwood, J. L. Millett and John D. Carroll, held at the city jail since their arrest Wednesday, are not the men who held up Southern Pacific train No. 13 and murdered four trainmen near the Oregon line October 11, according to police Chief Bernard McShane and Inspector Arthur Ryan, who subjected the three suspects to a six-hour grilling.

The trio, who were heavily armed when caught shortly after they had arrived in Sacramento from the extreme northern part of California, were able to give an account of their movements on the day of the train holdup, Ryan declared.

The men, however, will be held at the city jail for a few days more, police said.

PREMIER KING WAS HONORED IN LONDON

Spoke at Dinner Tendered by Canadian Club There

London, Oct. 19.—"We believe," declared Premier Mackenzie King last night at a dinner given in his honor by the Canadian Club, "that the British Empire is a community of free states. It is a community in which we have interests in common, and we believe that if the honor and integrity of common interests of that community are threatened, every part and portion of the Empire may be expected to rise and act at once."

"We believe also that in this community of nations, as you give expression to the national life of the different parts of the Empire, as you permit them authority and that full right that goes with the growth of nationhood, so you will help to instill not only a feeling of greater pride in their own countries but greater confidence in the Empire to which they belong."

The large dining-room of the Savoy Hotel was crowded for the occasion. Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London, presided, and the Duke of Devonshire also spoke.

Premier King said that in matters of trade Canada was getting back to her normal state. She had turned the corner. For a time, following the war, conditions in Canada were very serious. There had been a great deal of unemployment, but employment was now increasing. Production was greater than it had been for a long time. Canada held great opportunities for investment and was ready to welcome all those from the British Isles who were willing to take their places on the farms.

Halibut Treaty
Referring to the halibut treaty between Canada and the United States, Premier King argued that it was of concern only to those two countries. In having it signed by the Canadian Minister of Fisheries there had not been the slightest intention to show any discourtesy to the British Ambassador in Washington, but, added Mr. King:

"We feel so far as domestic affairs are concerned we have full right to self-government. We feel that, as regards matters of trade and tariff, we have the right to negotiate with our neighbors or with any country. It did not detract from the prestige of the British Crown that a Canadian Minister should have authority from the Crown to sign with plenipotentiary powers on a matter that related exclusively to his own country."

Where, however, other parts of the Empire were involved, Mr. King agreed that no one party should take any steps without the consent of the other parts of the Empire. First, that Canada is perfectly contented as a member of the British organization, realizing that in such a membership people are free to take their own freedom; second, that the wider the freedom the more closely are the links welded together, and third, that the most laudable course to follow to the British community of nations would be the development of the outposts to their fullest potentialities.

Hon. George P. Graham submitted three points. First, that Canada is perfectly contented as a member of the British organization, realizing that in such a membership people are free to take their own freedom; second, that the wider the freedom the more closely are the links welded together, and third, that the most laudable course to follow to the British community of nations would be the development of the outposts to their fullest potentialities.

WILL REDUCE TIME OF C.N.R. TRAINS

Long Lake Cut-Off in Ontario
Will be in Use Soon

Montreal, Oct. 19.—Provided weather conditions do not handicap the work, the Long Lake thirty-mile cut-off connecting what was formerly the main line through Ontario with the former National Transcontinental line, will be ready for operation about November 15.

Besides shortening the distance, considerable improvement in grade, alignment and the amount of rise and fall to be overcome is being effected by taking this route, and it will permit trains being operated by the Canadian National Railways in less time and at less expense.

The distance saved between Montreal and Winnipeg will be seventy and one-fifth miles, and between Toronto and Winnipeg 102 3-5 miles. On the basis of the present running schedule, the saving in time between Montreal and Winnipeg will be three hours and between Toronto and Winnipeg slightly more than four hours.

Long Lake is east of Lake Nipigon.

TO END RUM-RUNNING

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—The conference between Canadian and United States officials in regard to rum-running across the border, probably to take place about the end of November, it is stated.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It
Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but the delightful effect is with "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. ST. LAWRENCE PLAN NEEDS MUCH STUDY

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, addressing the Engineering Institute here yesterday, said he did not think the Federal Government or the Canadian people were in a position even to consider the St. Lawrence Waterways project, and they would not be in a position until it had been thoroughly investigated by a board of engineers representing Canadian interests.

Emphasizing the public services rendered by the engineering profession, Dr. King said engineers had done inestimable service in developing Canada and Canadians were largely dependent upon the judgment and work of the engineers. Land surveys had led the way to timber and coal and mineral clay lands, and had made it possible for the business world to move forward in industry. Engineers had also developed Canada's magnificent railway systems.

HAS SMUTS ANOTHER KEY?

Latest reports from London indicate that the advice of Premier Smuts is still regarded as a possible key to puzzles that have baffled every other attempt at solution. His proposals for the settlement of the reparations problem are now reported to be under the careful scrutiny of the British Foreign Office.

In his comprehensive plan the South African Prime Minister lays stress upon the necessity of approaching the whole question primarily from the psychological point of view by studying the German mind and basing all proposals on the probable reaction of German mentality thereto. To a certain degree, therefore, this would explain his recommendation of the scheme favored by the League of Nations—a scheme, by the way, thoroughly successful in the case of Austria.

Whether Premier Smuts will find support in Britain to his suggestion that the claims against Germany should be taken out of the hands of the Allies will remain a matter for conjecture until some official pronouncement shall have been made by the Foreign Office. It is fairly safe to say that quite a considerable amount of missionary work would have to be carried on in France before either Government or people would be prepared to turn the whole business over to the League of Nations—which is the basis of the South African Premier's proposal.

The French Government already has been presented with a copy of the proposal in question; but it is too early to expect a pronouncement from the Quai d'Orsay. It can be taken for granted, however, that that part of the scheme which is intended to create a separate Rhineland state and a separate Reich having the same political relations to the German republic as have Prussia and Bavaria, but with special economic relations towards France, will probably receive almost immediate approval among the people as well as by the Government. For there is obviously an important psychological consideration related to the condition which has been created by the Ruhr occupation that must be taken into account in any speculation as to what France may have to say to the Smuts proposal.

For the rest it is interesting to observe the part which the South African Prime Minister has already played in the settlement of war and post-war problems in so far as they have involved the British Empire. It will be remembered that he was the intermediary in the Palestine settlement; he went to Switzerland and discussed the important subject of a separate peace with Austria; and he went to Dublin and did much fruitful spade work in the negotiations that led to the acceptance of the Anglo-Irish Treaty in Ireland.

Meanwhile France has her heels on the vitals of the vanquished and will meet all proposals for their removal with an argument that cannot be gainsaid. Germany ought to pay, can pay, and must pay. Can it be said that she is wrong in her stand?

A GOOD SHOWING

While critics of the operation of the Liquor Control Act are amusing themselves in their own particular fashion it is interesting to observe that British Columbia's reputation in the matter of illicit manufacture furnishes a striking contrast to that of the other Provinces in which there is a system of official control of all liquors.

Figures compiled by the Excise Department at Ottawa for the last ten months indicate that the following seizures have been made throughout the country: Quebec, 428; Ontario, 717; British Columbia, 59; Alberta, 257; Saskatchewan, 389; Manitoba, 242; New Brunswick, 90; P. E. Island, 37; Nova Scotia, 103.

The figures for Quebec should suggest to the proponents of beer and light wines that the system in the Ancient Province has not overcome a desire to beat the law. Can it be that there is here a desire to impart a strength to the lighter beverages which the Government's product does not possess?

AN OLD DODGE

It is too late in the day for the republican prisoners in Ireland to expect to influence public opinion with threats of hunger strikes and the consequences of such a procedure. The Government of the Irish Free State has got into a progressive stride and the people throughout a greater part of the South have already begun to realize that their existence and a return of the prosperity to which the country is entitled depend upon the maintenance of law and order. No threat of a republican will be received with any degree of sympathy or promise of support except in those quarters where the spell which de Valera at one time was able to cast over the land still remains.

Admittedly the Government would find itself somewhat perplexed if 13,000 prisoners were to persist in their refusal to take food or drink of any kind until unconditionally released. Nevertheless it should be remembered that the authorities at Dublin cannot be held responsible for the foolishness of any element of the population—whether it be that of the prison or of the countryside—if it should seek to defy the will of the majority by imposing conditions upon itself that may end in either physical suffering or even death itself. Once a Government knuckles down to litigation from the prison cell it might just as well abdicate and turn over its authority to the first upstart who may come along with a sufficiently spectacular proposal.

HOT AND COLD

We are now being told by The Montreal Star that Canada is the prize sponge of the civilized world—that unless our people can pay their club dues to the British Empire this part of it should resign its membership.

Was it not this same journal that warned nearly nine million Canadians only a short time ago that the country was on its way to bankruptcy and disintegration, that a debt of more than two and a half billions of dollars would bow us down and flatten us out for all time, that nothing but ruin and disaster faced Canada—unless there should be an end to the spendings from the public exchequer? Now we are told that we are meanness personified. We haven't even the decency to pay our defence tolls.

Happily Great Britain does not look upon Canada as a sponger. Her unofficial messenger has just been here to thank this country for its part in the war. He knows that an army of half a million men went across the Atlantic and that we are now paying tremendous bills for pensions and other provision for our veterans. These are hardly the obligations of a sponger.

Surely it is time for less exaggeration in both extremes. We are not going to ignore fundamentals in the matter of defence or anything else that touches upon or has relation to Empire unity and Canadian nationhood. But the hot and cold Montreal Star is helping to do nothing.

Note and Comment

Five hundred pacts have already been registered with the League of Nations. Nothing of a "whisper of death" about this.

Lord Renfrew will be Lord Renfrew until he enters the gates of York House next Saturday. But even he cannot fool anybody; he's a "gonner" when it comes to guessing his identity.

Mr. Lloyd George says Canada is capable of maintaining a sturdy population of 600,000,000 persons. His statement is undoubtedly true; but we fear we shall not live to see the day when street cars run through Strathcona Park.

More than 38,000 German railwaymen have applied for work under the Franco-Belgian railway regime. This looks as if the average individual in that unhappy Ruhr and Westphalian section would prefer to get some real money for a change.

Prohibitionists taking part in the Scottish campaign printed their arguments on the side of paper bags used by merchants and gave them away to the users. The anti-prohibitionists collected them and used the reverse side for their own particular appeal. Thus the housewife may get pro and con on her way home with her groceries.

British Labor will have nothing to do with any change in the tariff policy of Great Britain. Lord Rothermere has definitely aligned his newspapers against any increase in the price of food. He sees in Imperial preference a short cut to a Labor Government. He objects to that for more reasons than one. There is more in this combination of opposition to the Bruce proposals than meets the eye at first sight.

AUTOMOBILE HEADLIGHTS

Irma Times:—There are enough automobile accidents but it is a wonder that there are not more at night with the dazzling lights that some cars have. You simply cannot see when you approach these cars with headlights on a narrow country road, and it shows that most drivers use good sense or have mighty good luck to pass these cars safely. Why manufacturers continue to send out cars with headlights that do not comply with the law is a mystery. The Government could easily put a ban on a few and gather in some fines for the depleted exchequer. Then we might have a change.

CONFIDENCE IN CANADA

Halifax Chronicle:—Instead of going to the money markets of New York and London, Hon. Mr. Fielding had confidence enough in the Canadian people to appeal to them to provide the money required to meet the debt which matures on November 1. It required courage to float so large an issue in the Dominion. The result has abundantly justified Mr. Fielding's confidence and his courage. The taking up of the huge amount of $200,000,000 in less than two weeks after the appeal was made to the public testified, as Mr. Fielding has said, in "the strength and stability of Canadian financial institutions and the determination of Canadian citizens to participate in such investments and to prove their faith in Canada."

CREDIT

To the Editor:—When I wrote that "the banks have a monopoly of the creation of credit" I was referring, of course, to the particular kind of credit which they issue—financial credit. Though banks do not create real credit, which is a correct estimate of the ability of a community to deliver goods and services as demanded, they create its derivative—financial credit. The great bulk of the currency of commerce is deposit currency, which is manufactured by banks in the making of loans. Bank loans create bank credits, and it is these credits that circulate the greater portion of the products of industry. Practically the whole of bank deposits are loans and discounts which have been made to individuals or organizations at some time. Banks are the great manufacturers of money; they literally "make money." What they do is to mobilize the real credit of the individual consumer and transform it into something which is acceptable by the business community in exchange for goods and services. This medium of exchange thus provided circulates present goods, and is the representative of future goods. It is a draft on future productivity.

Industry and commerce are carried on largely by means of credit borrowed from banks, so that the enormous power possessed by the banker is clear when one remembers that he is in a position to regulate the flow of this credit which is vital to industrial activity, expanding or contracting it at will. The control of financial credit means control of the policy of production. It is this control that we are anxious to see taken out of the hands of the banks and placed in the hands of consumers.

To effect this it is necessary to get the credit purchasing power which attends the ability to make and deliver goods into the hands of the individual consumers. This can be done either by a gift of Government "money" obtained by a creation of credit, or by reducing prices below cost to the individual consumer and making up the difference between price and cost by a Government issue to the producer. The basis for such a credit issue is the difference between what the productive organization is actually called upon to deliver and what it could deliver by utilizing its full capacity of goods and services. The latter method is the one which would appear to present the least difficulty in practice, and seems well fitted to achieve the aim in view.

It would seem necessary that every important industry should organize its own bank and finance its operations. Such banks would have access to the national treasury for all the legal tender required to carry on their operations, so that the industries that they represented would not be obliged to curtail production because of an arbitrary shortage of money. The only true and sane origin of production is the real need or desire of the individual consumer, and to restrict production so long as such needs and desires exist owing to a lack of money taken is surely supreme folly.

Mr. Peirce asks what would be the unit of currency if our money is to be separated from the gold basis (which makes the dollar unit represent a certain quantity of gold) and based instead upon the national credit. I must remind him that we are not now and have not for several years been on a gold basis. We have the dollar as the unit of currency today. It is not a dollar redeemable in gold, but in goods. It possesses a certain purchasing power—a command over goods—which is dependent on the fulfillment of the promise of redemption. Useful productive capacity is the only national basis for money. It should be issued against ascertained capacity to make and deliver the goods demanded. Money so based ought to meet the requirements of Mr. Peirce when he states that "Real money must be a promise to pay something we can deliver."

It is not necessary to use gold to express the value of commodities. As Henry Meulen says: "In the primary pricing of commodities we compare their respective worth with that of one standard commodity the worth of which we fix at one, and when the numbers have been assigned we may reject all reference to the commodity against which we originally measure them, since the numbers themselves thenceforward indicate the varying exchange relationships of all commodities."

Money should measure the economic power of production and should reflect in its purchasing power the intrinsic cheapening of products that are effected by improvements in processes and a greater command over natural resources.

FIVE ROSES FLOUR, 7

Was Earliest Hudson Bay Factor in Charge of Post At Fort Victoria, 1843-1844

By R. E. Gosnell

The first man in charge of Fort Victoria was Charles Ross, about whom generally speaking very little is known. His wife was the first white woman on Vancouver Island. Ross himself died after about a year's occupancy of the post, and was succeeded by the late Roderick Finlayson, under whose direction the fort was built in 1843.

Fort McLoughlin, on the northeast coast of Vancouver Island, was built, I think, in 1842. In or about 1843, Ross succeeded William Manson, a well-known Hudson's Bay Company fur trader, at that post. He had served in various parts of the country previous to that, but without a search of the Hudson's Bay Company's archives in London no definite information is available as to his previous record. What is known is that he came from Rosshire in Scotland, and as a young man was apprenticed to the fur company in whose employ he spent the rest of his days.

A Primitive Garden

Sir George Simpson, in his two volumes describing his trip around the world, gives some details of Fort McLoughlin as it existed in those days, and we find the following reference to Ross in his account of the trip up the coast to Sitka: "Mr. Manson's successor, Mr. Charles Ross, had made considerable additions to the garden, which was now about three acres in extent, with a soil principally formed of seaweed, and produced cabbages, potatoes, turnips, carrots and other vegetables." In the account of his return trip, during which he again called at Fort McLoughlin, Sir George pays his respects to Mrs. Ross as follows: "Talking of wives, the wife of Mr. Ross, of this fort, a Saulteau half-breed, lately displayed great courage. Some Indians, while trading, in her husband's absence, with her son in the shop of the establishment, drew their knives upon the boy. On hearing this, the lady, pike in hand, chased the cowardly rascals from post to pillar till she drove them out of the fort. 'If such are the white women,' said the discomfited savages, 'what must the white men be?'"

The fort at Victoria was built in 1843, and Sir James Douglas having started the work of construction and seeing it well under way, left and started North in the old steamer Beaver. He proceeded to Fort Tako (indifferently spelled Taco and Tako), taking everything away and abandoning the fort itself. On his way down he called in at Fort Simpson, taking on board Roderick Finlayson, in charge, and placing another officer in his place. Dropping down Milbank Sound, he took everything and everyone there aboard, including Charles Ross, who had been five years in charge. Fort McLoughlin was also abandoned for good. The Beaver, with the party on board, landed in Victoria harbor on June 1, and in three months the fort was completed. Ross being senior officer was placed in charge. In the Spring of the following year he died. In view of the letter which follows, his ending was somewhat tragic, because for a long time he had hoped to sever his connection with the company and get back to civilization in Western Ontario at Guelph, where his sister was living.

An Early Letter

I came across the letter in question in Ottawa, and it is in the possession of Mrs. William Beattie, to whose grandmother, a sister of Charles Ross living at Guelph, Ont., it was written. It is really the remnants of a letter which, suffering from fire and careless handling, are patched together, very yellow and extremely fragile. Some portions of the letter are lost altogether, and I could only surmise the contents from parts left, and Mrs. Beattie's remembrance of the original as it was. She found it in the false bottom of an old trunk, and preserved the letter itself, it was received in Guelph in October, 1844, and was answered the 25th of March, 1845, a year after Ross had departed life. Needless to say, the writing was difficult to read, and was only deciphered by the aid of a strong reading-glass. The handwriting, however, where not obliterated was in excellent form, and the language grammatical throughout, betokening a good early education. What remains of the letter is as follows:

"Fort McLoughlin, N.W. Coast of America, April 24th, 1843.
"My Dear Elspat (Elizabeth).
"A merciful Providence enables me to say that I am still in the land of the living—and I had the rare happiness of receiving your affectionate and loving letter of 27th of Sept. '41, on the 14th inst. and you see agreeably your desire. I lose no time in addressing you these lines in return, though I am afraid this letter will be equally as long as your own. I will, however, cross the Rocky Mountains in the fall, and though the . . . the east side of Canada . . . it will reach you much earlier than if I were to defer writing until next Spring which would be the regular period of communication between us and you. The distance that divides my dear Eppy (Elizabeth), is, indeed, great, and this has, hitherto, been one main reason in my backwardness in writing to you—another was—that I preferred remaining in blissful ignorance in regard to you, rather than run the risk of being told that ruthless fate had left me alone of my father's house. But thank God there are two of us, and I am truly happy to find by your letter that affairs appear (the next few words are indistinct but evidently are to the effect "to be prosperous") . . . beyond what my fears would permit me to hope. On this head, however, being ignorant of my probable fate you were not so communicative as you otherwise would. It is nevertheless a great satisfaction to learn that you manage (?) in the enjoyment of health and without any serious complaint when you wrote. Your next letter will acquaint me with all you left untold in your last—that is, everything relating to yourself, your husband, your sons and your farm. Meanwhile, I shall flatter myself in the belief that you are now quite comfortable and relieved from every care, save those that are inseparable from human lot.

"You say you are anxious, and it is but natural, to learn something of my own history for so many years back. (words here obliterated). I have as yet said nothing about my wife, whence you will nobly infer that I am rather ashamed of her—in this, however, you would be wrong. She is not, indeed, exactly fitted to shine at the head of a nobleman's table, but she suits the sphere she has to move in much better than any such toy—in short, she is a half-bred native of the country (Not of R.C., however—R.E.G.), and as to beauty quite as comely as her husband.

"From remarks I have made in preceding parts of my letter you will no doubt have gathered that there is a very painful part of it to come—and this, it grieves me to tell you, is the case. Shortly after you heard from me last, the consequence is that I am blessed with a family of nine children, that is, five boys and four girls—whose names and respective ages are as follows: John 20, Walter 16, Elspat (Elizabeth) 14, Charles 12, Catharine 10, Alex. 8, Francis 6, Mary 3, and Flora 1. Now, my dear Eppy, that is list for you which I dare say will astonish you—but this is not now important. True, this numerous progeny is a great present rather an encumbrance, but the time may come when they will be no longer so. Meanwhile my chief regret is their growing wild around me without proper education or example, and my means, I am sorry to say, are as yet too slender to enable me to send them where they can get either. The whole are with myself here, nor do I see the least possibility of respectably disposing of any of them so long as we remain in this unchristian world. This leads me to say that I wish by no means improbable but I may, some of these days, take up my last resting place alongside of you. But to do this comfortably would, I fear, require a longer purse than I am yet possessed of. Would a few hundred (meaning pounds, of course) do? Tell me all about it in your next letter and whether my sons and daughters, joined together, might not be able to fit in and make it go. . . . (the next line is too indistinct to decipher, but he evidently wishes to quit the place) and he then comments upon . . . the long and dreary space since you and I parted and no doubt many events have occurred to us both, but to neither of us, I believe, has the major portion of these events been productive of much joy—my own undoubtedly have presented nothing that would give you much pleasure in the hearing or me in the telling. That our way of life in this dreary wilderness nothing can be more dark and insipid. The posts we occupy, though many are far between, and seldom have any intercourse with each other, often more than once a year and then for the most part is for the purpose of exchanging cargoes of merchandise for cargoes of furs. There is no society—that is, the person in charge must divert himself the best way he can with his own thoughts. The few books he may possess. . . .

And here the letter ends abruptly. There is, however, a postscript preserved, which certainly enough appears over the commencement of the letter. Evidently a great many pages had been written on both sides of the paper and ended up so to speak, where the writer began. Here is the postscript:

"P.S.—I would perhaps send down my two eldest boys, John and absence and got safe to London in October '35. There, as you may suppose, I met with a warm and affectionate welcome from poor dear Kate—who was so rejoiced to see me, that she would hardly suffer me to go as far as Edinburgh to see our poor brother's children. Thither, I, however, went, and had the pleasure of finding our nephews and nieces in excellent health—nearly men and women grown, and almost as clever and talented as their unfortunate father—but the poor mother, alas! was quite helpless in body and mind. From Edinburgh, I returned again to London—not visiting the North, as I could find nothing there but painful recollections. I left finally on my return to this country in June '36—and had every reason to be pleased with the results of my trip. This, however, was not to long—my very dear wife, who from home announced that our poor dear sister had ceased to exist. I left . . . (Here a portion of the letter goes, but is apparently from the remnant left refers to his sister's family, about which I shall give some information later on—R.E.G.)

(The next page begins abruptly, with a description of the locality in which Fort McLoughlin was situated—R.E.G.) . . . possess or wandering through the morasses and swamps in quest of game. Business generally takes up but a small portion of his (the trader's) time and is almost wholly confined to receiving such furs as the natives may bring in and giving goods in return. By way of recreation, the traders are frequently shifted from one fort to another. I was for many years a sojourner at various establishments on the east side of the Mountains, but for the last five I have been a resident at this place. The situation is a very comfortable one—only the Indians (Indians) are very numerous, and we require to be on our guard against them—but we are in the hands of Him, whose eyes are always upon us, and at present here as well as in the people city. The fort is situated on the shores of the North Pacific—the country around us is extremely wild and rugged and instead of frost . . . (some words here obliterated) we have almost constant rains for two-thirds of the year.

His Family

"I must now tell you, in answer to your enquiry whether that I am not only married but I believe I have a larger family than your own. This, however, is a circumstance which, I believe, I should not be proud of for I now think, it had been much wiser, if I had kept my freedom a little longer, of which you will be the better judge, when I tell you I married so far back as '21. The consequence is that I am blessed with a family of nine children, that is, five boys and four girls—whose names and respective ages are as follows: John 20, Walter 16, Elspat (Elizabeth) 14, Charles 12, Catharine 10, Alex. 8, Francis 6, Mary 3, and Flora 1. Now, my dear Eppy, that is list for you which I dare say will astonish you—but this is not now important. This leads me to say that I wish by no means improbable but I may, some of these days, take up my last resting place alongside of you. Tell me all about it in your next letter and whether my sons and daughters, joined together, might not be able to fit in and make it go. . . . And here the letter ends abruptly. There is, however, a postscript preserved, which certainly enough appears over the commencement of the letter. Evidently a great many pages had been written on both sides of the paper and ended up so to speak, where the writer began. Here is the postscript:

"P.S.—I would perhaps send down my two eldest boys, John and Walter, if I thought they could prepare a place for the rest of us to follow by and by. Tell me what you think of such a plan, and what funds would be required to set agoing—say, to buy and stock 200 acres—CH. R."

To me at least, it seems a great pity that that letter could not have been preserved in toto. It probably consisted of a number of closely written pages, and from the detached bits Ross, it is to be concluded, gave a good deal about his career and conditions of fur trading in the Far West. So far as known, it is, with the exception of one in the Archives, the only of his letters in existence. His daughter was afterwards married to the New Westminster asylum, and her photograph, as well as a drawing of the old fort, is in the Archives at Victoria, but Ross lived before the days of photography in that city. I picked up six or seven of the very oldest photographs of Victoria, which are in the Archives some years ago. They were daguerotypes, but taken some considerable time after Ross's death.

A letter from Mr. Chipman, late commissioner of the Hudson's Bay Co., at Winnipeg, to Mrs. William Beattie at Ottawa makes the following statements:

"He was buried in the company's old cemetery, near what is now known as Johnson Street in the City of Victoria, and the remains were probably removed to Quadra Street Cemetery later on, although this can not be verified, and no tombstone or memorial is found to mark the last resting place.

"Flora, the youngest daughter of Mr. Ross, was born about 1842, and married on December 9, 1859, to one Paul F. Hubbs, who was for a time temporarily employed by the company, and subsequently as a miner was a fellow workman and partner of the late Robert Dunsmuir.

"Mrs. Hubbs died at New Westminster about five years ago, and is survived by her husband, who is still a resident of Victoria (this letter is dated March 7, 1908), being occasionally employed with the McMillan Fur Co. there.

A Talented Family

Charles Ross belonged to an educated and talented family. Walter Ross, his brother, was a physician who settled in British Guiana, and there amassed a considerable fortune. He died in 1832. One of his legacies was Charles, to whom he bequeathed £500. John, another brother, was a clergyman, in all probability a Presbyterian, who lived and whose family survived him in Edinburgh. He became a chaplain of a sixty-ton sailing frigate, the Dianthe, bound for Caracas on some adventurous scheme, which proved to be a disastrous one financially. On this voyage John visited his brother, being at the time in Honduras. He was lost at sea, and it is his children to which reference is made in the letter to his sister at Guelph. A sister was married to a Mr. Young, who from 1820 to 1862 was editor and proprietor of The London Sun, copies of which I was shown. One of them had a full account of the coronation of Queen Victoria and the other of the wedding of King Edward, then Prince of Wales. Both issues were printed in gold leaf—known as the "Golden Sun"—and had large embossed portraits of the Queen and the Prince of Wales and Princess Alexandra on the front page. To me as an old newspaper collector, these were "rare" ones. Two daughters were associated with him on the paper, and when they died, not so long ago, were the oldest women journalists in Great Britain.

"Mr. Joseph Macdonald, Guelph Town, to whom the letter I have reproduced was addressed, was his sister, Elizabeth, whom he married, called "Elspat" and "Eppy." She and her husband were among the earliest settlers in the days of the old Canada Company. She was grandmother of Mrs. Wm. Beattie, my good informant, who told me all about their pioneer troubles and hardships, how the women worked with their husbands hewing down trees, logging, building houses and barns, seeding and harvesting, carrying wheat on their backs long distances to the grist mill and bringing back the flour and provisions in the same way—helpmates in a very real sense of the term. It was a battle for existence in which the women took their full share of fighting. Her grandparents knew and were friends of John Galt, the novelist, Canadian pioneer and head of the Canada Company, who founded three towns—Galt, Guelph and Goderich—of Ontario. Mrs. Beattie told me how her mother, then living near Fergus, fed William Lyon Mackenzie—a fugitive from justice with a price on his head and wandering through the country—with bread and milk, her sole available provender. Her husband said to her one day, "There is a man outside, who looks very hungry. Have you anything to eat in the house you could give him?" She got a bowl of milk and a loaf of bread, and went out with it. There was mutual recognition and a start, but not a word said. He ate his simple meal and departed. Her husband was not only a magistrate, but a very stern one with military and naval traditions. Had he known it was the "rebel Mackenzie" he would immediately have arrested him and handed him over to the authorities. The magistrate was one of the old-fashioned kind who knew only his duty to perform, which was a religion. A team of horses, together with all his wife's entreaties, could not have saved the fugitive. Mrs. Beattie said her father died without ever having suspected succoring "treason" in the shape of William Lyon Mackenzie—grandfather, by the way, of our present Canadian Premier.

I got some further particulars from Mrs. Beattie about the family of Charles Ross. Mrs. Murray died in Tacoma, Wash., and Francis Ross, three years later. Alex. Ross died in Vancouver, August 15, 1921. Mrs. Ross, married to a man of the same name, but no relation, is still living. Francis H. Ross, presumably a grandson, lives on Eberts Street, Ross Bay, Victoria. The Christian name of Mrs. Charles Ross was Isabella, and she is said to have been of Spanish descent on the male side.

MAJORITY OF YOUNG PEOPLE OF THE U.S. ARE COMMENDED

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 19.—The liquor drinking flapper does not represent the youth of to-day, who in large measure are God-fearing and serious-minded, declared Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, president of the World's Christian Endeavor Society, in an address before the national council of Congregational Churches here last night.

"I do not believe," Dr. Clark said, "that the reckless, God-defying minority, however vociferous, represent our young people any more than the $5,000 people who paid a million and a half dollars to see a brutal prize fight, represent the American people in general.

ONTARIO MAN WILL BE NAMED C.N.R. DIRECTOR

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—There will probably be no appointment of a successor to R. P. Gough on the Canadian National Railway directorate until the return of Premier King and Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals. When the appointment is made it will go to an Ontario man. This was made clear by Hon. J. A. Robb, Acting Minister of Railways and Canals, to-day.

"Our Own Brand" BUTTER

Church Tea Big Success.—A delightful function was held at the home of Mrs. Genn, Burnside Road, on Wednesday afternoon to augment the funds of the Ladies' Guild of St. Columba Church, Strawberry Vale. The floral decorations were tastefully carried out, and a varied assortment of most delicious refreshments were supplied by Mrs. Genn and Mrs. Timma, who were the hostesses for this occasion. Mrs. Young rendered vocal numbers during the afternoon accompanied by Mrs. Chesham. The silver collection realized a substantial sum, which the ladies propose using to furnish material for their stall at the big bazaar to be held by the united Anglican churches, the last week in November in Spencer's basement.

LADY BYNG SENDS CHEQUE TO W.I. FOR CHILD CRIPPLES

Institute Fund Has Helped Thirteen Children; Some to Normal Health

Welcome stimulus to the work which the Women's Institutes of the Province are carrying on for the benefit of crippled children was received recently in the form of a generous donation from Lady Byng, honorary Dominion president of the W.I.

The letter accompanying the cheque was sent to the Central Park Women's Institute, which originated the fund for crippled children. It reads as follows:

"I am directed by Her Excellency, Lady Byng of Vimy, to acknowledge your letter of September 27, containing an appeal for the fund for crippled children of British Columbia.

"Her Excellency has much pleasure in sending you a donation of $20, a cheque for which I enclose and wishes me to congratulate the Central Park Women's Institute on undertaking such admirable work, and to send her best wishes for its success. (Signed) M. Rachael Walpole, private secretary."

Although inaugurated but a few months ago, the fund has grown to $1,000, all of the money, with the exception of $15, having been contributed by the Women's Institutes of the Province.

Through its aid thirteen crippled children have been helped, some being restored to normal health, while all have benefited by the treatment. One of the most spectacular cases of cure is that of a girl of sixteen years of age, a helpless cripple from the time she was three and a half years of age, who is now able to walk, thanks to the careful treatment paid for from the institute fund. Five crippled children are at the present time under treatment at the Vancouver General Hospital, supported by the fund.

RED CROSS NURSES ON WAY HOME FROM JAPAN RELIEF WORK

The Provincial Division of the Red Cross has received a cable to the effect that Mrs. A. M. Stabler and Miss L. M. Jefferys, the two Red Cross nurses who left for Japan on Sept. 6, to assist in relief work, are returning home on the Empress of Russia, due here on October 22.

Mrs. Stabler has been in charge of emergency relief work in the International Hospital, Kobe, but the immediate need for this work is now over. She reports the relief work for the 40,000 refugees who came into Kobe as being remarkably well organized by the Japanese.

One thousand refugees died en route from Yokohama to Kobe during the first two or three days following the disaster.

To-morrow afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock at the Hudson's Bay store, the Ladies' Guild for Sailors will hold a bridge, mah jong and 500 party in aid of its funds. The party has been arranged in commemoration of the anniversary of Trafalgar, Oct. 21, and the proceeds will be used most appropriately in the guild's work for sailors and their dependents. Guests unable to participate in the games will be welcomed at the tea hour at 5 o'clock, but play will continue until 5 o'clock.

YOUR HOME AND YOU

By HELEN KENDALL
The Losing Habit

An excited, wild-eyed woman rushed into the lost and found office at one of the great railroad stations and would have startled the youthful clerk if he had not been accustomed to having excited, wild-eyed women rushing in every hour of the day.

"I left a package on the train just now," she gasped, "a very important package. It was just—irreplaceable. I went back through the car at once and looked in the seat where I was sitting, and under it on the floor, and everywhere, but I didn't find it. What in the world am I going to do?"

Of course all the poor clerk could do was to ask her for a detailed description of the contents, and tell her that if the package was turned in he would notify her. "But the chances are slim," he added, although on the shelves and in odd corners were hundreds—yes, thousands—of bundles, suitcases, umbrellas, books, baskets, boxes, rolls of clothing and every conceivable article under the sun.

The losing habit is a natural enough one, I suppose. The minds of women (and men too) are fixed on their affairs, their business, their shopping, their appointments, their stations, the streets at which they are to get out, and so on. No wonder their packages drop by the way. But surely we women ought to concoct some scheme by which we might hang on to the bundles we have to carry. I know one woman who has a very ingenious scheme for automati-

AT THE THEATRES

ROYAL VICTORIA

The steeplechases to be seen in "The Sporting Earl," which is the attraction at the Royal again to-day, are a battle of fleet-footed thoroughbreds with hearts of steel, in a thrilling, pulsating contest over the famous English water jumps, hazards and obstacles, and winding up in fighting straining neck and neck finishes on the turf, where the heart is of no more avail than the legs. There is where you will see Cherrio Arf a Mo' come in, as the gamest horse that ever went over the Ascot water jump.

COLUMBIA

At last a picture has been made in which characters are shown in the act of changing. At the Columbia theatre, where the new Goldwyn picture, "The Sin Flood," is being shown, one of the remarkable impressions made by the photoplay is that here before our eyes, a group of people have thrown off the mask of everyday activities and shown us the workings of their thoughts. To attain this on the screen as simply as the director, Frank Lloyd, has done it, is no mean accomplishment.

PLAYHOUSE

The Compton Comedy Company are continuing this week the high standard set by them by presenting Sir James Barrie's great play, "The Admirable Crichton," which made such a remarkable success upon its first appearance and established itself among the forefront of modern comedies.

Francis Compton is to be congratulated upon the highly satisfactory production showing this week. Every point is brought out, the lively humor of the funny situations appealing forcefully to the large audiences who have enjoyed the play.

Mr. Compton takes the role of the butler, Crichton, in his usual artistic manner, maintaining his reputation as a high class comedian. He is well supported by Miss Peggy Dundas as Lady Mary Lazenby, who appears in several delightful costumes. Special mention should be made of her rendering of a very difficult role during the scene of the shipwrecked party marooned on a desert island in the Pacific. Miss Dorothy Clancy, as Lady Agatha, will add to her increasing list of admirers, while Herbert Leslie and Miss Agnes Burton present their characters in their usual satisfactory style.

The heavy cast is completed by Miss Peggy Lewis as the kitchen maid "Twiney," her character acting being of a high order, and George Durham, Clifford Winterrow, Bruce Bredin, George Fenton, G. Gibson, Wilfred Hill, Miss Catherine McDonagh, Winifred Macguire, Charlotte Foote, Ethel Johnson, Margaret Rosher, Eileen Johnson and Stella Almond.

DOMINION

George Arliss, the distinguished actor, is the only recruit from the legitimate stage who can actually hold his own and at times outdraw the established screen favorites, such as Fairbanks, Hart, Valentino and McElhenny. As a matter of fact, Mr. Arliss, as great a legitimate stage actor as he is, is an equally great picture performer. The answer is found in a recent critical comment: "A newspaper reviewer after seeing an Arliss performance said, 'George Arliss can say more with his hands than any person living.' This is unquestionably a fact, and it is this attribute which makes him a great pan-musician."

Those who have been fortunate enough to have followed the work of George Arliss on the stage will realize that such little tricks as the loose play of his fingers on the head of his cane as Baron Steyn in "Becky Sharp," his toyine with his silk kimono as Zerkuri in "The Darling of the Gads," writing in the immense book in "The Devil," and the manner in which he opens and closes his cigarette case in "The Green Goddess." Actors and actresses, both aspiring and established, could learn much from this mannerism of George Arliss.

CAPITOL

England is all "shot up" as the result of the filming of the William Fox screen version of "If Winter Comes," the novel by A. S. M. Hutchinson, which has become as popular as a certain much abused brand of automobile. The photoplay is booked at the Capitol theatre for the balance of this week.

During the taking of the scenes in England The London Daily News contained the following warning to its readers: "The habit of 'shooting' (which means photographing) bits of England for use in films, is assuming a degree of popularity which almost amounts to a craze."

"Harry Millarde is at large in our southern counties gathering British atmosphere for a film of the popular novel, 'If Winter Comes.'"

"In a quiet little village, near London, a few days ago, Mr. Millarde called on an old inhabitant to come out and be 'shot.' The producer was disappointed that the village could not provide a more picturesque scene, but the victim was considered aged enough and duly 'shot' by the camera. Similar outbursts were inflicted afterward on the village milkman, his daughter, the postman and two women in a donkey chase. The moral effect on the donkey of this burst into fame is said to have been disastrous."

"Even the dogs of the village have not escaped the producer's eye for 'atmosphere.' Guilford High Street has been pressed into the background of the film, and the producer had a little difficulty in securing permission to use the belfry of the town hall as a point of vantage for the cameras."

ENDORSE SURVEY OF EDUCATION

School Trustees' Association Approves Proposal of Great Importance

Duncan, Oct. 19.—By a vote of twenty-seven to seven the B. C. School Trustees Association Convention went on record yesterday afternoon in favor of the proposed educational survey of the Province.

Dr. F. J. Nicholson, chairman of the Vancouver School Board, expressed the hope that a resolution of that import would have universal support, in appealing for the adoption of the principle. He explained how the situation requiring a survey had grown up and become necessary in carrying on the educational work of the Province. He observed that it was the largest business in British Columbia to-day, in educating 30,000 children.

Basis of Criticism
Dr. Nicholson referred to the issues which formed the basis of criticism at present directed against the educational system of this Province, and remarked he had heard few objections to the proposed survey, at any rate of a character to be considered well founded.

The character of the commission was outlined, and it was pointed out that the men chosen for educational purposes should be the best obtainable, irrespective of their place of residence. Dr. Nicholson said he did not believe there should be a restriction to Canadians resident in Canada to conduct the survey, but there were plenty of Canadian experts in the United States, and other persons resident in various parts of the British Empire fully competent. He quoted the correspondence which led up to the appointment of the Federal technical education commission (1918 to 1919) which examined the whole field of industrial development in Canada and overseas. Technical education had made a fair start before the war, but it was not until after the war that the Federal Government acted on the recommendations of the report, and found the necessary funds to carry out the survey. He said, desirous to see the educational survey initiated, and apply to education generally that scrutiny which the commission he mentioned had given technical instruction.

The Vancouver board had received many resolutions on this plan, and all had been enthusiastic. Dr. Nicholson said:
Harry Charlesworth, secretary of the B. C. Federation of Teachers, said the teachers strongly endorsed the proposal. For the last few years the federation had campaigned on behalf of the survey. He pledged the aid of the teachers to the survey immediately as was stated.
President Harwood declared after a visit to almost all the cities of the Province he had come to the conclusion that such a survey was wanted.

A lengthy discussion ensued, some of the up-country delegates deprecating a hasty conclusion of opinion on the subject. The consensus of opinion of delegates was distinctly friendly.
The resolution:
"Whereas, the conditions of money are being spent in this Province annually on education, and many are not satisfied that all of it is being spent to the best advantage; and
"Whereas, great diversity of opinion exists as to the suitability of our present courses of study and to what changes should be made in them, if any; and
"Whereas, many are of the opinion that one great need of our education system is a more highly-trained teaching staff to carry on properly the highly scientific work of the classroom; and
"Whereas, there exists a manifest reluctance on the part of many to make expenditures of money on educational needs that are manifestly urgent, if our Province is to make the progress we all so much desire; and
"Whereas, our school work is being hampered through lack of school accommodation, equipment and staff which these well qualified to judge say we should have and to remove unwarranted suspicion from the public mind, and establish confidence in our education system by discarding anything useless that may be found in it and incorporating anything that may be lacking, to conduct school work on the best scientific lines, and impress upon all the necessity of adequately supporting education, the best way is to have the whole system thoroughly examined by capable independent educational experts who can tell us fearlessly how we need and intelligently how to secure that which is needed;

"Resolved, that we heartily endorse the endeavor to have the Provincial Government take the necessary steps to secure a thorough survey of the education system of the Province, at the earliest possible date, by educational experts whose findings will command unquestioned respect and inspire a confidence in the general public that will ensure their ungrudging financial support of a sound educational policy."

The convention rejected the plan of Duncan Consolidated School Board to limit the choice of commissioners in the survey to residents of British Columbia.

To the executive was referred the accompanying resolution which has been thrice on the order paper, and not dealt with hitherto as submitted by a joint committee composed of representatives of the Teachers' Federation, B. C. School Trustees' Association and the Department of Education, on instructions from the 1921 convention.

(a) That the principle of the minimum salary be adopted.
(b) That the Province be divided into teaching areas, according to living conditions, and that in addition to minimum salary there be an indemnity to compensate for variations in the living conditions.
(c) That a joint board be appointed to constitute the teaching areas referred to in clause (b) and to decide all questions arising therefrom, the board to consist of two representatives of the School Trustees' Association, two from the Teachers' Federation and one from the Department of Education, government appointee to be chairman of the said joint board.

The reason for taking this action was that if a survey is held the vital principles contained in the resolution would certainly be investigated.

Esquimalt P.T.A. Heard Interesting Talk on Africa

A remarkably interesting programme and a well-filled hall marked the Esquimalt Parent-Teacher Association meeting at the Lamson Street School last evening. A special feature was a lecture by Major Geiston entitled "The White Man's Grave—the West Coast of Africa." Major Geiston, who was political officer in Nigeria, gave a most interesting account of the country, the habits and customs of the different tribes, their industries and religious ceremonies, illustrating his lecture profusely with lantern slides. These clear and beautiful photographs were taken under extreme difficulties owing to the horror of the natives of being photographed, and to the discouraging climatic conditions. Four inches of rain in three hours is not unusual; thunderstorms and sandstorms are frequent, and so humid is the atmosphere that boots cleaned overnight would by morning be covered with a one-inch growth of mildew. Another difficulty faced by the photographer was the giant cockroaches, which infested every place and would devour the films.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Major Geiston for his enlightening and entertaining address. The meeting also conveyed its thanks to Miss Humphries, who sang very pleasingly, responding to an encore, and to a little girl, Mary Leith, whose piano solo showed decided talent.

The chair was occupied by Mrs. Nicol, the newly elected president, who said it was the desire of the executive, in collaboration with Mr. Campbell, the principal, and Mrs. Watson, past president, to make the Esquimalt Parent-Teacher Association a really live organization. The large meeting made them feel they had the support of the members, which is necessary for success.

In response to a letter from the Child Hygiene Council, a delegate to attend its annual meeting, Mrs. Saunders, last year's delegate, was again chosen.
Dr. McCallum reported on the milk fund. He thought it very desirable that the distribution of milk at the Lamson Street School at the noon hour be continued. The milk is given free to under-nourished children in needy circumstances. In aid of this fund a masquerade ball for children is being given at the Lamson Street School on Halloween night, October 31.

Mrs. Nicol announced that Mr. Campbell is arranging for a lecture at the next meeting on the problem of the retarded child. On the motion of Mrs. King a sick committee will be appointed to help Nurse Morrison.

At an executive meeting of the Victoria Welsh Society held on Wednesday evening it was decided to hold a musical concert at the next regular meeting. The meeting promises to be one of the best held during the year, as each member of the executive has promised to present one artist.

The Catholic Women's League will hold a rummage sale at 643 Fort Street, next to Terry's, on Saturday, October 27. Donations will be gratefully received and will be called for on telephoning Nos. 48761 or 2725.

Dr. A. J. Lamb, tuberculosis health officer for British Columbia, will give an educational address at Lake Hill Community Hall on Friday, October 26, at 8 p.m., under the joint auspices of the Lake Hill Women's Institute and the local tuberculosis committee. Any tuberculosis sufferer caring to attend the meeting, or his medical adviser, will be given an opportunity of conferring with Dr. Lamb. Questions may also be addressed at the meeting.

The opening recital at Courtenay on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Native Sons of Canada at Courtenay, by Victoria's popular tenor, Victor Edmunds, was a big success. The opera house was crowded to capacity, and Mr. Edmunds created a most favorable impression. A similar concert will be given at Duncan on Wednesday, October 24, and early in November he goes to Nanaimo where he sings under the auspices of the Nanaimo Philharmonic Society.

Parking of automobiles in the centre of Yates Street is suggested in a letter by J. W. Archer, of Cobble Hill, written from Oakland, California. Journeying south, Mr. Archer has made a note of his observations and has made many recommendations for advertising Victoria. The efforts of the publicity bureau for advertising the island are referred to. Referring to automobiles, he draws a plan for parking in the middle of the streets. He suggests that the cars drive on an angle, park in the middle of the road, and drive out on the other side, a system, he says, which is used effectively in California cities and eliminates the inconvenience of a jam of cars near the sidewalks.

A committee of the City's Fire Department is now busy with final plans for the ball to be held under those auspices at the Armories on the evening of October 31. The function will be open to the public and is in the nature of an entertainment with the object of increasing a fund.

ASSIZES END WITH TWO HOSPITALS RETAIN STANDARD

Acquittals Returned in Both Manslaughter Hearings; Steele Sentenced

The acquittal of Arthur Thorpe on the charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Thorwald Birkland, who died following an auto accident on Beach Drive last week, and the sentencing of Jack Steele to one year's imprisonment upon conviction on a charge concerning a serious offence against a juvenile, featured the closing moments of the Assize Court to-day. Bringing the hearings to a close Mr. Justice Murphy adjourned the sitting sine die. The Assizes in this city, which are confined to three hearings, resulting in two acquittals on manslaughter charges when juries freed Arthur Thorpe and Daniel Matheson, and one conviction in the Steele case, imposing sentence on Steele His Lordship pointed out that the acquittal of the two defendants was due solely to the recommendation of mercy of the jury in that case. The lightness of the sentence could not be taken. His Lordship wished it clearly understood, any precedent in a matter that concerned a serious breach of the criminal code. The morning session of the Court was devoted to the conclusion of the Thorpe hearing, and featured by a brilliant address on the part of R. C. Moresby, appearing with W. C. Moresby for the accused Thorpe. Mr. Moresby urged that the accused had exercised the judgment which would have been that of a normal person under the same chain of circumstances. In brief reply Oscar C. Bass for the Crown urged that the sole question before the jury was whether or not the accused had been guilty of an omission of a legal duty.

In a careful and extended charge to the jury Mr. Justice Murphy dealt with the elements of the case and paid great attention to the statements made by each witness. There was no doubt, he stated, that some of the parties to the case, including Rosecamp homes had been indulging in an orgy of drinking, but that was not to be allowed to reflect on the accused beyond showing that opportunity of taking drink was present, whether it was exercised or not.

The main matter for the jury to decide was, whether the accused had been guilty of a criminal carelessness, such as would render him liable to a conviction on the charge of manslaughter. The jury retired at 12 p.m., and returned with a verdict of "not guilty" shortly after 1 o'clock. Thorpe was congratulated by his friends, upon his release.

A campaign has been conducted to raise funds for the new building, and although no date for starting the building is announced, it is an assured fact that the rapidly growing order will go ahead with their plans to erect a new home that will be an acquisition to the city and will be listed among the fine structures which have been recently built and those in the course of erection.

The scheme will be again discussed by the Foresters Tuesday night at a meeting to be held in the Foresters' Hall.

TWO HOSPITALS RETAIN STANDARD

American College of Surgeons Again Favorably Grade Six Hospitals in Province

People interested in the status of Victoria hospitals in their relation to the great international movement of their recognition by the American College of Surgeons as standardized institutions will be glad to hear that both the Royal Jubilee Hospital and St. Joseph's Hospital have been certified in the class of hospitals with over 100 beds admitted to the roll. When the American College of Surgeons held a conference here for its Washington and British Columbia members last month a good deal was said about the progress of hospital standardization, and it was reported that the periodic survey was in progress, and that a report would be presented to the clinical section at a conference in Chicago late in October.

Six hospitals in British Columbia are in the chosen list, a tribute to their standing in the hospital world. In addition to the two mentioned, the General Hospital and St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, the Royal Columbian Hospital, New Westminster, at the Royal Island Hospital, Kamloops, and the Victoria General Hospital. Four hospitals in the class from fifty beds upwards will be certified on the completion of certain matters, including the Royal Jubilee Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, St. Mary's, and St. George's Hospital.

Sixty-two per cent. of the larger hospitals of the United States and Canada have complied with the requirements of the American College of Surgeons. Of over 1,600 hospitals tested last year, out of 311 hospitals of from 50 to 100 beds, 242 qualified, and of 812 hospitals of 100 beds and over, 577 met the standard requirements.

ATTENDS HIGHWAY OPENING CEREMONY

Alderman A. E. Todd Will Represent Victoria at Olympia

The Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau is co-operating with the Seattle Chamber of Commerce in advertising and assisting in the celebration at Olympia, October 23 to mark the opening of the Pacific Highway. Alderman A. E. Todd, hailed as the pathfinder of the Pacific Highway, and one of three founders of the Greater Victoria and Island publicity bureau, will represent Victoria at the opening of the highway. Moving pictures will be taken of the ceremony, and "Olympia" will be cast off the inter-State bridge at Columbia River Saturday at the border of the States of Washington and Oregon.

The ceremony marks the completion of seven hundred miles or paved highway. After the Washington section is opened a large caravan of automobiles will move from Olympia and Salem, Ore., for the formal opening of the Oregon section on October 26.

Every city in the Northwest, the Publicity Bureau officials believe, will receive great benefits from the opening of the highway. Twelve photographs of scenes in and around Victoria, featuring the scenic beauty of the island, have been forwarded to the committee in charge of the celebrations and wide publicity will be given during the celebrations.

LABOR LEADER COMING SUNDAY

W. D. Mahon, of Detroit, president of the Amalgamated Association of the Railway Employees of America, will arrive here on Sunday. It was announced here to-day by Alderman Dewar.

Mr. Mahon, president of the Victoria street railwaymen's organization, will officially welcome Mr. Mahon, who will speak to the Victoria union men at two meetings, Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. Mahon has been attending the bi-annual convention of his organization in Oakland and the labor convention in Seattle. He is one of the leaders in the labor movement on the continent. He was one of the key-men at Washington during the war, serving on the War and National Labor Boards.

GOOD PROGRESS AN C.P.R. BUILDING

Basement Walls Will be Ready for Steel by Saturday

By noon to-morrow the basement walls of the ground floor of the Canadian Pacific $200,000 terminal building will be ready for the steel, Walter Luney, of Luney Bros., Ltd., the contractors, reported to-day. The foundation is all down to bedrock, some of it being twelve feet below high water mark. There are about forty men on the job at present, in addition to the teamsters.

The work has been started six weeks and given favorable weather it is anticipated that it will be ready next June, proving an imposing entrance to the city for the Summer tourists coming by water.

A gang will be employed on the job steadily for four months making artificial stone in the basement, approximately $25,000 of it being used in the erection of the building. The same kind of stone was used in the construction of the Capitol Theatre, and although more or less of a novelty in British Columbia is used a great deal in eastern provinces.

WORK STARTS ON LIQUOR WAREHOUSE

Wrecking Gang Now on Job Clearing Away Fire Debris

Within three or four days the debris will be cleared away and work will commence on the rebuilding of the position of the Government liquor warehouse wrecked by fire. James Hunter, manager for Pither & Leiser, announced to-day. Work on clearing away the debris started Monday with the placing of a derrick on top of the building to facilitate operations, and but for the rain interfering with work the building would have been ready for the construction gang by this time.

The contract for the repairs has been let to J. L. Skene, the original contractor for the building, and although it is difficult to tell the extent of the work required until the wreckage is cleared away, it is estimated that it will be in the neighborhood of $20,000.

It is hoped to have the job finished and the building renovated ready for occupation before Christmas.

DRUG CHARGES AGAIN REMANDED

Definite Assurance Now That Commission Will Investigate Whole Matter

Although to-day was set as the peremptory and final date, the hearing of charges against F. W. Eccles, W. L. Smith and Frank Fernandez for illegal possession of opium and other matters, went into the weekly remand for the eight consecutive period in the City Police Court to-day.

"I might as well say that I am tired of these adjournments," stated C. L. Harrison, for the Crown, although agreeing firmly to the case down again for hearing on Wednesday in next week.

"I have already expressed my views on the matter," remarked Magistrate Jay, "but I see no reason why the cases should not proceed peremptorily on Wednesday next."

The delay came when counsel for the defence, J. B. Pattullo, K.C., and F. R. Russell, K.C., failed to appear. The accused, Eccles and Smith being officers of the narcotic detection squad of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Vancouver, and Fernandez, a longshore foreman of that city, were represented by their solicitor, H. G. S. Heisterman. The failure of counsel to appear was explained in a letter from the Attorney-General to the City Prosecutor, read to the court.

Investigation Now Certain

The letter was dated October 17, and stated: "Now that we have definite assurance that the commission for the investigation asked for has been issued, I take it that we should curtail all necessary expenses in the matter of further police court proceedings. I have no reason now for requiring the attendance of witnesses or for other counsel on your part; so have the cases stood over until the commission comes to hand, when we can decide finally what disposition to make of them."

Mr. Heisterman urged that the wishes of the Federal and Provincial Departments of Justice be respected in this regard, and asked for an adjournment of the trial of the accused. After some further discussion the court fixed Wednesday of next week as a peremptory date for the hearings. The prosecution intimated that it was ready to proceed at any time, and expected to get down to trial on that date. After adjournment the accused were remanded.

Course of Lectures to Be Given Before Local Society

TO CONSIDER LENGTH OF BRIDGE OPENING

A controversial question is occupying the attention of the public works committee of the City Council this afternoon, as a sequel to the early completion of the railway section of the Johnson Street bridge. It is the duration of the period during which the bascule span may be lowered for the operation of trains, which bears on the extent of impediment to navigation of the Upper Harbor.

In 1910 the city secured an order of the Railway Board setting the limit at ten minutes. When the agreement with the Canadian Pacific Railway for the new bridge was negotiated, the limit was to be twenty minutes, and the city was to negotiate with the Railway Board for a new order in conjunction with the railway company.

The announcement that the limit would be twenty minutes stirred the Lower Harbour Association, and as a consequence it has been decided to hold a conference to reach a compromise on the whole matter.

At the public works committee meeting several street matters will also be brought before the board.

Ruggers Open Their Programme Saturday

One Senior and Two Intermediate Games Are on Opening Card; Garrison and Oak Bay Wanderers Will Provide Plenty of Hard Play in Their Clash at Willows; No Lack of Frills; One of Best Seasons in History of Rugby Is Looked For

Officials of the Victoria Rugby Union will hoist the curtain on their show to-morrow afternoon and, according to the "speller" in the box office, this is going to be "one big season."

One senior and two intermediate games are on the programme to-morrow and the rugby should be of a brand superior to anything seen in league circles here for a number of years. The rain has softened up the ground enough to assure a good footing and a softer bed in which to fall when the tackle grips the ankles of the warriors.

The games slated for to-morrow are as follows:

Senior League

Garrison vs. Oak Bay Wanderers at the Willows track. Referee, Bill Ellis.

Intermediate League

Normal School vs. Oak Bay Wanderers at Oak Bay.

J.B.A.A. vs. Brentwood College at Brentwood.

All games will start promptly at 3 o'clock and the team managers are asked to have their players on the field prompt so that no delays will be experienced.

Looks Like Big Year

It looks as though rugby is due for a big season and there is great excitement in both the senior and intermediate leagues over the outcome of the races. There is a strong revival of interest in the game on the part of the public and it is expected that large crowds will watch every game this season, provided the weather is not too disagreeable during the hours of play.

The teams drawn for the opening game in the senior league are very strong and a good game is looked for. The Garrison are expected to prove the team to beat as the players are all in the best of shape and the scrum is particularly heavy, powerful, strong and fast.

Pendray Leads Squad

The Garrison will be led by that famous dribbler, H. Pendray, who has played with the Wanderers and V.I.A.A. in past seasons. He will have a keen crowd of players behind him this season.

As a link between the scrum and the three-quarters the Garrison will have Taylor, who alternated at five-eighths and half-back for the last year and also played on the rep team. The Garrison have a very slick quartet of three-quarters, with Russell, who played with the Victoria lacrosse team, working in the centre.

Oak Bay Ready

Oak Bay has worked hard to get a team together for a big factor in the race. Several of last year's Wanderers have signed on and a number of new faces will be present. Vic Goodacre, Willis and Gilmer, three of the Wanderers' first year players, will be on the three-quarter line, while Parker, the new little half-back with the Wanderers, will hold down the position with Harold Colman in back with the forwards, while John Shaw was snatched from the Bays. The scrum is heavy and capable of playing a hard game under all circumstances.

The clash between these warriors will be a thriller all the way and should prove a great drawing card. The teams will be as follows:

Garrison—McClennan, Kirk, Russell, Ward, Biss, Taylor, Bryson, Armstrong, Joiner, Little, DuBoulay, Pendray, Wingert, Crump and Coulter.

Oak Bay Wanderers—Eaton, Grubb, Goodacre, Willis, Gilmer, Adams, Parker, Kingston, Shaw, George, Money, Stewart, Christy, Gregg and Colman. Reserve, Allen.

The intermediate league opens with the Normal School meeting the Oak Bay Wanderers at Oak Bay, and the J.B.A.A. meeting the Brentwood College at Brentwood.

Last year was the first season for a great many years that the intermediate games were properly organized, and as a result a high class of rugby was played. A great many persons who witnessed both senior and intermediate games were of the opinion that the intermediates played a finer class of rugby than the senior, and while not being as heavy they made up for their weight in the fine spirit and enthusiasm shown. A large number of the intermediate players of last season have this year graduated to senior company and will no doubt give a good account of themselves.

Must Encourage League

The Rugby Union realizes that unless it encourages the intermediate players that it will have no source of supply to draw on for its senior teams, and has therefore made every assistance to all teams entering the intermediate league. The intermediates have also secured the use of the Oak Bay grounds.

The teams have been training faithfully for the past month and the players are now ready to plunge into the game at the first blast of the whistle.

The schedule is as follows:

First Round
Oct. 20—Normal School vs. Oak Bay Wanderers, at Oak Bay. J.B.A.A. vs. Brentwood, at Brentwood.

Oct. 27—Oak Bay Wanderers vs. J.B.A.A. at Oak Bay. Normal School vs. Brentwood, at Brentwood.

Nov. 3—J.B.A.A. vs. Normal School, at Oak Bay. Brentwood vs. Oak Bay Wanderers, at Oak Bay.

Second Round
Nov. 10—Brentwood vs. Normal School, J.B.A.A. vs. Oak Bay Wanderers.

Nov. 17—Normal School vs. J.B.A.A.

"Palms" Ball With Big Toe in Funny Golf Game in Egypt

Paris, Oct. 19.—One of the queerest golf stories of the season is told by Colonel Robert M. Thompson, president of the American Olympic committee, who has just sailed for home after attending to some of the details for the forthcoming international games here.

The colonel and his Sudanese bodyguard were sailing down the Nile from Kartoum at a time when the river was very long and their paddle wheeler was forced to stop many times awaiting a rise in the water. On these occasions, the colonel, who never travels without his golf clubs, would alight on the shore, accompanied by his Sudanese valet, and play a few holes, natives setting up a hole-in-one without his help. The colonel and his valet would then drive over the natural sand bunkers, and the man from Timbuctoo developed his game until he could give the white man a very good fight indeed.

"Palmed" the Ball

The other natives soon caught onto the game and after a few days the colonel noticed that they were gambling on every hole. After a particularly brilliant drive over a little wooded oasis the colonel was annoyed at not being able to find his ball. The search was very long and the natives until he saw one of the natives, who he knew had been betting heavily against him at about ten cents a hole—slinking away, limping. Like a flash the colonel was upon him, shaking him violently until the little fellow dropped to the sand. The gambler was then stepped on the ball and "palmed" it under his big toe.

During the last two days of the trip the colonel's members of the gallery intending to follow the game were requested to wear shoes.

Lawn bowlers brought their season to a most successful close last evening by holding their annual re-union at the Chamber of Commerce. Prizes won during the season were presented, after which there was singing and military five hundred.

The evening opened with a nice speech from Tom Cashmore, the energetic president of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club. He referred to the splendid competition which had been witnessed at Beacon Hill this season, the added interest which followed the opening of the new green and the increase in the membership of the club. Club's latest member, W. MacKay, presented prizes for the pairs handicap to D. H. Bryce and G. F. Lockwood, J. R. Mountain and H. A. Munn.

Hard-Worker Honored

A pleasing presentation was made by President Cashmore to R. McDonald, for his splendid services in the new green. The presentation took the form of an enlarged colored photograph of the open tournament held last August, beautifully framed. The five hundred tournament was won by Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Wright, T. Renfrew and H. L. Wilson at the first table and Miss Jaeger, Mrs. Ray, Mrs. Munn and T. Roberts at the second table.

Refreshments were served at the close.

A pass-word at last night's entertainment was "Papyrus." The word "Twenty-Five," which last night interpreted meant, "We want five lawn bowling clubs in Greater Victoria by 1925."

The success of the entertainment was due to the following reception: Harry Wright, Harry Mills, Harry Munn, and Harry Munn, with David Dewar, the club treasurer, as the receiving teller.

Expect New Record in Endurance Horse Race at 300 Miles

Rochester, N.Y., Oct. 19.—Upsetting the prediction of expert horsemen, all except two of the remaining sixteen entries in the national 300-mile endurance contest at Longwood, pulled into the stables in the time limit of nine hours at the completion of the fourth sixty-mile lap yesterday, despite the gruelling route on Thursday, the stiffest in the history of the races.

Jane Grey and Red Cloud, Morgan horses, entered by the U. S. Morgan Horse Club, suffered time penalties of eight minutes and one hour and ten minutes respectively. Jane Grey was an hour late at the noon halt, but steadily decreased the deficit during the afternoon.

Contest records will be broken this year, according to Wayne Dinmore, Horse Club, chairman of the board of supervisors, who is quoted as saying that many of the horses will finish the test in forty-five hours flat, the shortest time possible.

Vendetta, winner of the previous year's endurance contest at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, made the same distance in 48 hours 17 minutes.

Mr. Dinmore also is quoted as saying that many of the horses will finish the test this year as against thirty-three per cent last year.

MAY OPPOSE PAPYRUS IN TURF CLASSIC

MY OWN

Zev's Condition Is Causing Much Alarm

Trainer Hildreth Admitted He Was Worried Over Colt After Workout This Morning; Afflicted With Skin Disease Which Looks Like Mange; My Own Being Considered as Substitute; Is Not Good Mud Horse, However; Papyrus the Favorite

New York, Oct. 19.—Zev has developed a skin malady which may prevent the Rancocas colt from carrying America's colors in the $100,000 race with Papyrus to-morrow. The Jockey Club's race committee, however, after inspecting the horse, indicated it would withhold decision pending the arrival of My Own, which has been shipped here prepared to take Zev's place if necessary.

The malady affecting Zev has assumed the proportions of an epidemic at Belmont Park, where three barns have been hit, and every precaution is being taken to prevent it reaching the stable where Papyrus is located.

Papyrus to-day looms as a possible favorite over Zev in to-morrow's $100,000 international race that will make racing history. The English Derby winner ended his training yesterday by doing a mile in 1:38 2-5.

Trainer Is Worried

Just how seriously Zev has been affected could not be learned. The colt was worked a half-mile in 47 3-5 seconds by Jockey Lavine yesterday, but Trainer Sam Hildreth admitted he was worried over his charge's condition. The Jockey club's committee, headed by Major August Belmont, thoroughly inspected Zev after the workout and, while frankly anxious over the colt's condition, declined to say what course would be taken. Major Belmont told interviewers that he and his associates would defer definite decision until the arrival of My Own.

With prospects of a wet track, the race committee faced a further problem in making a possible change, it was pointed out for Zev is not reputed to be a good "mudder," while Zev and Papyrus have shown win ability under adverse track conditions. It was raining steadily at the track this morning.

Other Horses Lost
The malady affecting Zev and other horses at the Belmont track was said to be similar to one which has cut short the racing careers of several noted horses.

Among them was Incheape, $15,000 imported colt, which was destroyed by the disease last year. He was some time ago in a fire that swept the Rancocas stables.

Papyrus, with Donoghue up, and accompanied by Bar Gola, a stable mate, had a light jog about the track this morning.

New York, Oct. 19.—Plans for the international horse race to-morrow at Belmont Park went forward to-day despite the eleven-hour complications concerning America's entry.

The five events originally scheduled for to-morrow for Empire City track, where a regular autumn meeting is in progress, have been shifted to Belmont Park. The first race will start at 2:30 o'clock and the $100,000 classic, the fourth on the programme, will be called at about four o'clock.

My Own Due To-day
Rear-Admiral Grayson's My Own is on hand as a substitute should anything happen to prevent Zev from racing. The race committee's request yesterday that My Own be taken to the track gave rise to the reports that Zev was not in condition and might be replaced by Admiral Grayson's horse. They were quickly denied. Major Belmont, committee chairman, declared that the action was merely a precautionary measure.

Advance sale of tickets indicate the attendance at the race will reach 100,000.

Zev's workout yesterday was confined to a gallop around the track. To-day the horse will be held to brief limbering up canter. The same will apply to Papyrus. The mile yesterday indicated he would go to the barrier in excellent shape, while Zev's training was maintained.

Jockey's Confident
Steven Donoghue, England's best jockey, says Papyrus is fit and ready for victory, while Earl Sande, the confident of success for Zev.

The statement of Major Belmont concerning the shipment of My Own to the track for emergency purposes, was denied.

Leaving nothing to the element of chance that had already moved quietly from consideration, the filly breaking down recently at Latonia.

GEASON WILL NOT JOIN DETROIT CLUB
Detroit, Mich., Oct. 19.—William "Kid" Gleason will not be engaged as assistant manager of the Detroit team of the American League, it was announced here to-day by Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit club. Late in the season when there were rumors that Gleason would resign as manager of the Chicago White Sox, there was a report current that the Chicago manager would be selected to assist Ty Cobb at Detroit.

Opening Games in S. S. Basketball Set for November

Thirty-Five Teams Will Compete in Various Divisions; Teams Now Practicing

With thirty-five teams already entered in the various basketball leagues, the Sunday School Athletic Association made considerable progress last evening at a general meeting held at the Y.M.C.A. towards starting the season's play in November.

The local association is now affiliated with the B.C. Basketball Association, and Clarence Ferris was appointed the delegate to attend the annual meeting at Vancouver early next month. Bill Erickson will substitute in the event of Mr. Ferris being unable to attend.

Will Play for Titles
The local winners in the various divisions will this season have the opportunity to meet the mainland champions for the open B.C. championships. Gus McKinnon's First Presbyterians will no doubt be out after this title with a strong line-up.

The Senior "B" Men's League has been dropped this year and all senior teams will be seen in the "A" division, which will provide a better class of basketball, as all the weak teams will be eliminated.

The Bays, Metropolitans and St. Andrew's will all provide strong opposition for the First Presbyterians.

Christ Church, Fidelity, Metropolitans and St. Andrew's will provide keen competition in the senior girls' division. St. John's is a new entry, and is now practising for the opening games.

Axioms and Metropolitans should be the pick of the intermediate girls' league. Axioms will play the junior B.C. title last season, while the "Met" annexed the Intermediate Girls' B.C. championship.

New Practice Hall
One of the buildings at the Willows exhibition grounds may be secured and fitted out as a basketball hall where teams can practice at a small cost.

The Trades Hall is available for league games, and part of the schedule may be played off at the Broad Street gymnasium.

Some of the most important games will be staged at the Y.M.C.A. hall, where a larger crowd can be accommodated.

Prospects are good for a very successful season.

The opening games will be played next month, the dates to be announced later.

The teams entered in the various leagues are as follows:

Senior Men—James Bays, Metropolitans, First Presbyterians, Onwagosa and St. Andrew's.

Intermediate "A"—Boys—Centenals, St. Andrew's, James Bays, Adanac, Falcons and Onwagosa.

Intermediate "B"—Boys—Belmonts, St. Andrew's, Christ Church, Metropolitans, St. John's, Metropolitans, St. Mark's, Falcons and Greys.

Senior Girls—St. John's, St. Andrew's, Fidelity, Lava, Wire, Christ Church and Metropolitans.

Intermediate Girls—St. John's, Axioms, Metropolitans, Wideawakes, Christ Church, Christ Church and Excelsior (Congregational).

Junior Girls—Harmony.

Junior Boys—Christ Church.

FIGHT POSTPONED

New York, Oct. 19.—The fight tonight between Joe Lynch, bantamweight champion, and Joe Burman, of Chicago, at Madison Square Garden, has been postponed.

The postponement was announced to-day by Eddie Meade, Lynch's manager, who said the champion had dislocated his shoulder when he tripped and fell over his dog.

AN EMPIRE SHOOT

Ottawa, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press).—The proposal to hold an empire shooting competition on the "Commonwealth" range near here in 1925 was placed before Hon. E. Macdonald, Minister of Defence, yesterday, by a delegation representing the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association. The delegation represented to the Minister the necessity of securing the co-operation of the department.

McTigue to Defend His Title Against American Champ

New York, Oct. 19.—Mike McTigue, world's light-heavyweight champion, has signed a contract to meet Gene Tunney, American title holder, the bout to be held this winter.

The match, which has been hanging fire ever since McTigue returned from Ireland early in the year with the title he won from Battling Siki, was clinched at a conference between Rickard and the rival managers, Billy Gibson for Tunney and Joe Jacobs for McTigue.

McTigue has had but one decision match since he won the 175-pound crown. That was his recent affair with Young Stribling at Columbus, Ga., where Referee Harry Erle, of Jersey City, declared the contest a draw. McTigue said he was forced at the point of a gun to go through with the match after an attempt had been made to call it off.

Gene Tunney, declared that an alleged injury to the champion's left hand in training, before and after the contest McTigue and his party were the storm centres of a popular outburst.

McTigue accepted Rickard's terms yesterday, after receiving an offer from Jim Corbett, promoter of Tijuana, Mexico, for a fight there.

McTigue's fight with Tunney, regarded the American light-heavyweight title, from Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, in a fifteen-round match at the Garden last winter.

Keen Interest Over Meetings Of Rivals

Wards and Wests Will Renew Their Old Feud on Football Field To-morrow Afternoon; Will Look Like Old Times to See These Clubs Facing Each Other Again; Two Other First Division Games Are on Card, With Former Second Division Clubs Getting Their Baptism

Interest in to-morrow's soccer games centres around the clash at the Royal Athletic Park between the venerable rivals the Wards and Wests. This will be the first time in a good many years that these two eleven have come together to fight for supremacy on the football field. It is interesting to note that some of the players who will take up their positions to-morrow were also members of the teams which battled furiously a number of years ago.

The Wards have not played this season and it was a freak of the draw that pulled them against the fighting greenhorns. The Wards have taken the place of the Island Club in the First Division and have not been able to appear before this owing to the necessary papers having to be exchanged with the B.C.F.A.

Some Old Faces
According to the line-up announced this morning the Wards will have Art Baynes, their goal-tender in years gone by, between the sticks, and Everett Taylor will be one of the backs. Allie McGregor and Angie McInnes are among the other old faces that will be in the line-up.

The Wests will have out the same line-up they have been fielding all season. Jimmie Sherratt, Johnny Fyfe, Bob McInnes and Charlie Thomas are some of the Wests who looked arms with the Wards in the old days in championship finals.

To-morrow will witness the first card of the enlarged First Division. Previously but five teams competed in this league with two games each Saturday and one club standing down. Last Tuesday night the Second Division was absorbed by the First Division and from now on there will be three games each Saturday with one club remaining idle.

Will Be a Test
The two Second Division clubs have been drawn against First Division eleven, and will have a good chance to gauge their ability. Esquimaux vs. Navy at the Canteen Grounds. Referee, Payne. Kick off at 3.15 p.m.

Esquimaux—Miller; Meaher and Carmichael; West, Jones and Sherwood; Stewart; Watt, Ruggles, Bendle and Frampton.

Junior Division
Seaside Thistles vs. Oaklands at Central Park. Referee, Cull. Kick off at 2.30 p.m.

The teams will be as follows: "Victory" vs. West; Park, C. Baker and S. Sherratt; Wade, Thomas and Popham; J. Sherratt, Mulcahy, Peden, Muir and Waddington.

Entries will close on October 25. It is expected that about seven or more teams will be entered. There will be two teams from the business men's club, one from the young men's club and three from the young men's evening class.

Two of the teams are already out after material. Gordie Sward and Benjie McMillan, two of the best known basketball players in the city, are captaining these teams.

The idea of the league being called the Handicap Basketball League is that if two or three of the teams are a great deal stronger than the remaining clubs, when the strong and the weak clash, the latter will be given a number of points at the commencement as a handicap. This will make the competition far keener, and the good teams will have to fight the whole of the way to keep at the top of the league.

Any player wishing to play in this league and unable to get in touch with the captains of the teams, may leave his name with either Archie McKinnon or W. S. Maguire, physical instructors at the Y.M.C.A.

HANDICAP LEAGUE IS FORMED AT Y.M.C.A.
A novelty idea in basketball has been commenced at the Y.M.C.A. in the formation of a Handicap Basketball League. The league is open to any group of members in the "Y" and the games will be played on Wednesday and Saturday nights. Entries will close on October 25.

It is expected that about seven or more teams will be entered. There will be two teams from the business men's club, one from the young men's club and three from the young men's evening class.

What Los Angeles Writer Thinks of This City

J. A. Graves in the Los Angeles Times

Distinguished travelers and authors have pronounced Victoria one of the most beautiful cities in the world. It is situated at the southeast corner of Vancouver Island, in British Columbia. Many of its buildings approach the water's edge. To the south lies the Strait of Juan de Fuca, a broad arm of the sea lying between the island and that portion of the Washington coast which extends to the Pacific ocean. To the East is the Sound, whose greatest width is between Victoria and the Washington state line. The Sound extends northerly the full length of the island and is of varying width. It is throughout its length studded with islands of great beauty, some large, some small, some cultivated, some pastured, and others in their natural state. A few of these islands have signs upon them to the effect, "This island for sale," and give the place where particulars can be obtained.

As a background, Victoria has a succession of hills, or miniature mountains, some partly occupied and all of them timbered and scrub covered, presenting an appearance of solid greenery with here and there a white house showing.

The city has been substantially built. All of its buildings, sea walls and public improvements bear the earmarks of British solidity. Its streets are wide, well paved and adorned with ample shade trees, while every private yard is a power of brilliant colored flowers. Law and order are the rule there instead of the exception. Everything moves as if by clockwork. The people one meets are quiet, orderly and accommodating; even the newsboys bear the badge of respectability.

Victoria has miles of most excellent drives, its parks are well cared for and its streets are scrupulously clean. On a recent Sunday the writer visited its principal park. It was crowded with people. Many families were there taking their lunch in picnic fashion on the grassy lawns and beneath generous shade trees. After 3 p.m. (it was light enough at that hour to read fine print out of doors) the crowds had dispersed. The park visitors left not a scrap of paper, not a bit of rubbish behind them. The lawns were as clean as if they had not been visited during the day. In Los Angeles, it requires the work of dozens of city employees to clean up any of the larger parks every Monday morning, and nearly as many on any other day of the week. Newspapers by the thousands, many of them torn to fragments, cover the lawns, scattered around with a lavish vandalism. No such vandalism would be tolerated in Victoria.

No better hotel can be found anywhere than the Empress of that city.

CHAIN STORES CREATE A MODERN BUSINESS ROMANCE

New York, Oct. 19.—One of the greatest romances in retail business has been the growth of chain grocery stores, 20,000 of which now transact slightly less than ten per cent of the nation's retail grocery business, estimated at $20,000,000,000 annually. If the present ratio of growth be maintained, this will be increased to twenty-five per cent within the next five years.

Economy of operation by reason of the fact that the business is transacted on a cash basis with a heavy turn-over and small profits, and the rapid development of American suburban and community life, have been the two main factors responsible for this tremendous growth. Scientific investigation has revealed that a community of 1,000 persons will permit the operation of a chain store grocery at satisfactory profits, though one store can serve several times that number.

The first chain grocery stores in the country were viewed with suspicion on the theory that the lower prices they charged meant inferior products. This feeling, however, has to a large extent disappeared, mainly due to the fact that the chain stores have offered nationally advertised articles at prices below those charged by independent grocers.

The pioneer in the chain store field was the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, which was established in 1858. This concern now has more than 8,000 stores doing an annual business of approximately $250,000,000. Unlike a number of other chain store concerns, the ownership and control of this organization has remained in the hands of one family.

The second largest chain grocery firm is the Jones Bros. Tea Company, which started with one store in Scranton, Pa., in 1872, and now has 620 stores in 200 cities, doing an annual business of approximately $40,000,000.

The Jewel Tea Company has 527 branches from which 21,844 wagon and motor truck routes operate in forty-three states. Scattered throughout the country also are more than 300 Piggly Wiggly stores, although they are not all owned by the same corporation.

Perhaps the greatest chain store concern in the country outside the grocery field is the F. W. Woolworth Company, which started with one store in Lancaster, Pa., in 1879, and now operates more than 1,300 stores doing an annual gross business of over $147,000,000. The United Clear Stores have approximately 2,450 stores.

Other large chain store concerns are the J. C. Jenney Company, operating 312 department stores doing an annual business of more than $50,000,000; the S. S. Kresge Company with 212 stores and annual gross business in excess of $45,000,000; Schulte Retail Stores Corporation with 239 stores in 1922, doing an annual business of nearly $22,000,000; the United Drug Company with more than 250 stores; the G. R. Kinney Company operating 131 shoe stores; the McCrory Stores Corporation with 165 stores; the S. A. Kress Company with 150 stores and the Melville Shoe Corporation with sixty-two stores.

TO OUR PRINCE

Canadians all rejoice to know, their Prince they love is here. And loyalty have greeted him, with greetings most sincere. Inognito as commoner, as Prince or otherwise. His democratic, kindly ways, he never can disguise.

He's heard the roar of British guns, the roar of Britain's might. He's glad to grip a "Cannock's" hand, he's seen Canadians fight. And we are proud to greet our Prince, please God our future King: As he has Royalty won our hearts, his hand we'll loyally bring.

"Lord Renfrew" when again you seek, a quiet well-earned rest, And fain would lead the simple life, come—be once more our guest. A welcome always waits you here, where loyalty prevails: We honor "George" our noble King, and love our Prince of Wales.

Vancouver Has Ambitious Water Plan: But Analysts Pick a Few Flaws in It

Mayor Tisdall, of Vancouver, and the Reeves of Point Grey and South Vancouver are advocating that the Bill to create a corporation having control of the water supply available for all Greater Vancouver, including the municipalities of Richmond, Burnaby, North Vancouver city and district and West Vancouver, be put through the Legislature as a Government measure. It was learned to-day from those who have knowledge of the details of the Bill. The proposed organization is declared to be somewhat cumbersome. It consists of an administration board of four members appointed by the city of Vancouver and one each by Point Grey and South Vancouver municipalities. The idea being that at a later period other municipalities may join when each of such municipalities will also have a representative on the Board.

It was pointed out here in the analysis of the Bill that one weakness of a Board of this character would be that it would be subject to change annually, thus interfering with any continuity of policy adopted by the Board.

Appointed by the Board for the purpose of managing the new corporation it is proposed to have three commissioners, these commissioners to receive such salary as the Board might direct and continue in office during the pleasure of the Board. One rather peculiar feature of the proposed legislation is that there are certain very important functions of the corporation which require the recommendation of the commissioners before the Board can act thereupon. Should the Board not accept the recommendations of the commissioners, a deadlock would naturally ensue and the only apparent way to break such a deadlock would be for the Board to dismiss the commissioners and appoint other commissioners who would make such recommendations as the Board might be willing to approve of.

The financial obligations of the proposed corporation are limited to $10,000,000, except in the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to the issuing of a larger amount. The powers sought for the new corporation are very extensive and go so far that if the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council could be obtained, this corporation would be enabled to appropriate the waterworks of the city of New Westminster and divert the same to the area embraced in the municipalities of the city of Vancouver, Point Grey, South Vancouver and any other municipality which may be added in the future.

Section 23 of the Bill gives power to acquire any waterworks property already existing at actual values. No matter what the cost of these works may have been in the past or no matter what losses the owners of these works may have carried in the expectation that increase of population in the future would recompense them for past losses, the corporation has the power to expropriate at present values without taking any of these other matters into consideration.

Section 30 of the Bill upsets the principle that the property of any municipality may not be disposed of without the assent of the electors of the municipality. Various sections of the Bill appear to be inconsistent and irreconcilable with other sections, 48, 49, 50, 54. Section 54 gives priority of security upon the property of the municipality to the charges of this proposed new corporation and is declared to be a violation of existing conditions under which municipalities have borrowed money heretofore. Section 51 is declared to be a violation both in intent and in fact, as it makes it unnecessary for the municipality to make a full disclosure of property owners along Kingsway, in South Vancouver, is an example of the application of a somewhat similar principle in the past. Section 54 authorizes municipal trustees to invest their sinking funds in the debentures of the proposed new corporation. This is certainly not in the public interests to permit.

WEST END PLAYERS STAGE WAR ROMANCE

Many Novelties Included in Amateur Production at Semple's Hall

Staged by the West End Players at Semple's Hall, Victoria West, last night, "The Yamma Hoo Club," a sketch from the pen of Mrs. Ross Semple, drew marked attention. The theme dealt with the departure for war of young men, around whom is woven the romance of the story.

Mrs. A. H. Gaiger, Miss Louise MacE., Miss Marjorie Colby, Miss Norma Kenney, Mrs. A. C. Hudson, Miss Edith Barr, Miss Doreen Davis, Mrs. A. Spadin, Messrs. A. W. Semple, R. Hardy, A. C. Plowright, R. Rutledge and A. H. Gaiger carried various roles with aptitude.

The action of the play permitted the inclusion of many novelty turns which were fully appreciated. A marked favorite was the flapper chorus, in which six couples sang and danced their ways to repeated success. Tom Obee won recognition with a humorous selection.

Hub—Well, now that we've got a girl, you can take it easy. Wife—That's all you know. I'll have to work twice as hard to make the place comfortable enough so that she'll stay.

MAYOR'S DAUGHTER MARRIED

Special to The Times
Nanaimo — The Wallace Street Methodist Church was the scene of an interesting marriage ceremony yesterday when the Rev. P. Ewing, united in marriage Cecil William Wall, of Vancouver, and Miss Clara Ellen Busby, only daughter of Mayor Busby, of this city.

The bride, attired in a beautiful creation of buff tan crepe with novelty ribbon trimming and carrying a bouquet of roses, was given away by her father and was attended by Miss Martha Bennett, wearing a gown of sand crepe with King Tut trimming, and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Herbert Busby, brother of the bride.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with chrysanthemums, greens and ferns. The gift of the groom to the bride was a fur; to the bridesmaid, a brooch, and to the best man a pair of cuff links.

At a meeting of the Western Fuel First Aid and Mine Rescue Class for the purpose of electing officers for the coming season of ambulance class work, the following were elected: President, J. Scott; vice-president, Dave Stobart; secretary, A. R. Wilson; treasurer, C. J. Tyler; roll secretary, C. Wharton; auditors, W. H. Moore, G. Tarrow and F. Mercer.

On Sunday next John Hunt, superintendent of the local Western Fuel Collieries, will present medals and cheques to the successful students in the St. John Ambulance examination, viz. C. Wharton, H. Pollett and W. W. Shearer.

The World's Fastest Shave

GENTLEMEN, your skin specialist will tell you the facts about right and wrong shaving. You should know these facts. We offer the fastest shave in the world, yet every one a super-velvet shave with the keenest edge known on a safety razor blade.

But that is not all. We offer here a scientific shave, with due consideration given to dermatological principals, a shave which does not pull the skin or facial muscles, a shave which does not irritate.

We spent a fortune attaining a super-keen blade. It has created a world-wide sensation. Sales have reached a new peak.

ONCE OVER—THAT'S ALL

With this new edge you run over your face one time only. And that's where you reduce your shaving time one-half. Also, you spare your face, for dull edged blades are harmful.

Mistreatment helps to age the face and wrong shaving is an important factor. Only a fast shave with a super-keen blade keeps the face in condition.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST HEALER

EX-SULTAN FOUND IN ITALY RETREAT

Mahomet Hopes Soon to Return to Turkey as Head of Moslem World

Exiled Ruler Refuses to Have His Wives Join Him at San Remo Villa

Paris, Oct. 9.—In a handsome villa in the English quarter of San Remo, Italy, where Turkey's fate was decided by the Supreme Council three and a half years ago, Mahomet VI, former Caliph of the Moslem world and Sultan of Turkey, patiently is awaiting another change in Turkish temperament which will bring him back to power as the recognized Commander of the Faithful.

Ever since he fled Constantinople last November, when the Kemalists declared Ankara alone had the right to dictate Turkey's political affairs, Mahomet's movements have been surrounded with the greatest mystery. He was known to have taken refuge, with his family and a few officers, at Malta, and later he visited Mecca via Switzerland, but thereafter all trace of him was lost.

Guard Gives Royal Honors

Recently curious reporters began to tell tales of a sleeping old man with red hair and heavily lined face, who had been seen walking under the trees in an Italian garden, often accompanied by two Turkish boys. It was then Italian newspapers reported that a military guard had been posted at the outer gates of the San Remo villa, and as its aged occupant with his mysterious entourage appeared each morning they rendered salutes accorded only to royalty.

Only a fortnight ago, however, in response to official inquiries, did the Italian Government admit that the guest was the former commander of all the Moslem world, who had been forced to abdicate in favor of his cousin, Abdul Medjid Effendi—a man whose spiritual life, according to the legitimists, left much to be desired, but who at last had the confidence of Mustafa Kemal's Young Turks, and became Caliph.

Like the former Kaiser, to whom he had rushed in 1914, Mahomet VI insists he never wanted war, but was the victim to a chain of circumstances, in which his abdication is only a temporary link.

"I opposed Turkey's participation in the war, and always had but one aim, namely, peace with other nations. But the Young Turks, since 1908, had intervened in all my marches for peace, and prevented my concluding a separate peace long before the collapse of Germany's cause, into which we had been forced," said the ex-Sultan recently.

"Now the Young Turks hold me responsible for the armistice of Mudros; but it was signed by Reouf Bey one of the Ankara chiefs, and the army itself was under command of Mustafa Kemal, who abandoned it in order to seek safety for himself near the summit of Mount Taurus."

The former ruler of the Moslem world, however, refuses to knuckle down to Ankara's jurisdiction, even to the extent of consenting his title of Caliph or accepting an annual pension from the present Government.

"Never," he shouted to a recent interviewer, "never will I admit the right of a man to rule over citizens, whose very faith must be suspected to resolve the question of a Caliph politically. Not even the Turkish nation, 4,000,000 strong, has the right to decide the fate of our religion, which numbers more than 200,000,000 followers throughout the world."

"I still consider myself the one and only Commander of the Faithful despite all Ankara may say or do, and I will wait in peace till the time comes for my return to the land and the people I love. To await ultimate justice is the just due of a prophet in time of danger."

Army May Back His Cause

It is rumored there is a strong possibility that Mahomet will find a well-organized army ready to back his cause whenever he decides to return to Stamboul. But the family coffers already are sorely depleted, so any attempt to recapture the throne must depend upon whether Italy or England will provide the necessary finances.

It is said the visits of Turkish officers to San Remo are increasing weekly, some of Ankara's supporters recently having called to pay their respects and to assure Mahomet that they regretted having followed the Kemalists' instructions to a point that meant ruin for Turkey. One asked the ex-Sultan's pardon, and Mahomet, merely smiled, granted the pardon and replied: "Wait for the hour to come when justice will triumph."

Apparently he thinks the hour not far distant, for he steadfastly refuses to ask his several wives to join him in his Italian refuge. The only women allowed on the premises are two aged and unattractive Italian chambermaids, who are more interested in the carabinieri outside the gates than a fallen ruler to insure whose comfort they are paid five lire a day.

To Hold Conferences
Throughout the Dominion a series of spiritual and inspirational conferences will be held, at which leading ministers in the three negotiating churches should set before the people the question of organic union in its significance as one of the greatest religious movements of the century.

These conferences are to begin in this city, and three of the most capable leaders of religious thought in Canada have been selected by the union committee to speak on this most important matter. The programme, as outlined by the local committee, of which Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson is the chairman, provides for addresses in several churches on Sunday next, and two public meetings on Monday.

The meeting on Monday will be held in the Metropolitan Methodist Church from 2 to 5 p.m., and will allow for all proper and relevant discussion of the proposed legislation, as also for elucidation of any points in the draft bill that may not be clear to the ordinary reader. To this meeting the public is cordially invited.

The evening meeting will commence at 8 o'clock and will be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. This meeting will not be a meeting for discussion and debate, but one in which inspirational addresses will be given by the speakers designated for the purpose. The public is urged to attend this meeting, as well as that of the afternoon, and there is promised to one and all a time of uplift and delight.

"The Twilight of the Idols"

By Henry Baring University School

Whether this old world of ours is passing through a cyclical period of world-mind restlessness or even disintegration, or whether the crashing of pre-war conventions, idols and customs but presages the advent of a new era of fuller and richer life, still rests unveiled; and through the dim mists of doubt and gloomy foreboding, massed armaments still glitter and the four ghastly ravagers: war, famine, disease and death, wreak havoc over half the globe.

Population presses desperately against subsistence. Prejudice, class, nationality, all fuse in the bitter struggle for life. The eyes of weary, diseased and war-wrung Europe are turned to the West. Will the West realize its opportunity—its high destiny?

What a mighty brilliant future is ours in America, do we but take our opportunity. With the vast majority of our people still healthy-minded and strong-bodied from pioneering and out-of-door occupation, our race is still sound. True, in circles spuriously called "Society," even the West has plague spots of vice and corruption, partially hid by the power of wealth. But, on the whole, there is bred out here a joyous, life-full thing of strength and hope, the child of liberty and infinite opportunity and heir to the fairest regions of the earth.

The children of this North American continent possess a great intellectual heritage in the cultural environments and public opinion they find around them. Great as being the product of a rich experience and an inquiry. But who will say that it is what it should be? Modern man knows, wondrous and lovely as this world is, things are far from right. He knows also that the chief causes of this state of affairs are vice, laziness and selfishness.

The modern business man, painfully penned into narrow, selfish living, hungered for fuller life. Monotony, drudgery, chafe and wear him. His life is bound in business with their attendant pain and waste.

Still, hope envisages the day when each man, carefully selected and trained from youth for specialized employment, may live a bigger and freer life. Signs are not wanting that the all-work day is doomed. We seem to see dimly a life more rationally apportioned to the demands of economic moral and social efficiency. What hours are reserved to business will be crowded closer and yet closer with intensive work; but life imperiously demands that the body and functions of the mind other than those immediately concerned in the struggle for existence, shall be used and developed to form in combination the complete life.

If this Utopian conception of life is to materialize, existing economic methods and even principles must have to be drastically revised. Those already enmeshed in the coils of our present wasteful, grinding business system will not provide the driving power necessary to carry us to our goal of more efficient and economic work.

Those in contact with the modern child know that it is a fact that he is now regarding the life before him with a kind of indifference, tinged with cynical opinions as to the dreary narrowness and "meaninglessness" of it all. Can this be wondered at? The future so often stretches out before him questioning his existence as an unintelligible medley of uninteresting routine, shorn of romance, and but dimly lighted by scientific discovery and increasing material comfort.

Where the inspiration where the "divine wonder" to give the urge to mighty deeds? Orthodox religion is inarticulate, perplexed. Citizenship and ambition but end in majority or plethora. Physical prowess in battle on this continent is confined to the Ring and Stampede.

What have we to give our youth in place of the old marvelous mosaic of chance, romance, chivalry, loyalty and religion? The old tangled skein of life was living. Modern life is but mechanical regularity varied by neurotic hysteria or controlled muscle movement. The world needs utterly, must have, a conscious goal, a faith or soul.

Quick nostrums, stunted creeds, ersatz cults, must hide their bleating misery in the decadence that gave them birth. A new gospel is with us, simple like all truth, great as nature herself, the Gospel of Work. Not to sordid ends, not work for work's sake, but work in the grand task of modern man, the work that lies in the seizing of his own destiny, reconstituting his cultural environment and realizing the illimitable powers of his mind and will.

Scientific progress makes mighty strides. Knowledge delves deeper and deeper. As life shrinks in meaning and import the world's millions away more and more blindly to the will of the few, armed with ever-growing powers.

Democracy still reigns in name, though her pristine glory is departed, perhaps for ever.

The field is free, the road is open to an aristocracy of intellect, nurtured in the freedom of the West, permeated by a fierce will to change this old-world discord into a beautiful harmony of joyous, purposeful life.

The grand agent to this end is man's will working through the two greatest human, formative factors, "cultural heredity" and education.

ORGAN RECITAL ON MONDAY NIGHT

Initial Public Recital by Miss Marguerite McKay

Another recital has been announced. This, the second of the season now opening, is to be given in St. Andrew's Cathedral on Monday evening next. The event will mark the initial public recital by the organist of the cathedral, Miss Marguerite McKay, who had the honor of being encouraged in her work and complimented by Joseph Bonnet, the organist of Notre Dame, Paris, during his visit here. The young and talented organist will be assisted by her master, Jennings Burnett, organist of St. John's, Miss Eva Hart and J. Q. Gillan.

All this daylight we saved during the Summer won't be much help when we have to get up in the dark again.

Gillan, Miss McKay will play works by such composers as Gounod, Liszt, Debussy, Chopin, Schumann, G. P. Fauré, Mendelssohn and Dvorak. The vocal numbers will include "With Verdure Clad," from the "Creation," by Miss Eva Hart, Mendelssohn's "O Come, Let Us Worship," by J. Q. Gillan, and the cathedral choir will give one number from the "Assumption." A collection will be taken up for the Red Cross Japanese Relief Fund.

All this daylight we saved during the Summer won't be much help when we have to get up in the dark again.

"OVER THE TOP."—Society's annual classic, the Bryn Mawr Horse Show, started auspiciously this year. Here is Mrs. John Bosley taking Lady Evelyn over the high spots.

ALARM CLOCKS NOT NEEDED.—Leonard G. Barron and his family of Washington, D.C., were ready to retire when the walls of his house caved in. Six persons were in the house, including Mrs. Barron's eighty-two-year-old mother, but no one was injured.

RHINELAND.—Joseph Smeets is one of the leaders of the Rhineland secession movement, and is endeavoring to wreck the German state as now constituted.

POLICE!—Why is the young woman sweating so freely? Is it fear? Maybe a band of thugs is attacking her. Who can tell? Now look at the next column.

AH! THAT'S DIFFERENT.—She is only a movie actress registering fear, or over-exertion or something. A fine rubber tube runs up the back of the neck. When the "close-up" is ready to be made the director presses a bulb holding glycerine and water and down comes the perspiration.

HORSE OVERBOARD.—This Cleveland horse was a bit too sure of himself while treading the runway shown in the picture and toppled over the rail on to a pile of lumber. Police manned block and tackle lifeboats and pulled Dobbin from his predicament, after which he went right back to work, never hurt a scratch.

RT. HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING, Prime Minister of Canada, is shown arriving in London to attend the Imperial Conference.

HAPPY REUNION.—Ephraim Zimbalist, famous violinist, finally succeeded in bringing his mother and father from Petrograd. It took seven years to do it. Here they are at Zimbalist's home in Astoria, N. Y.

AIRMAIL FOR GERMANY.—Germany is starting an airmail route. This photo shows Pilot Sthamer on the plane Bremen leaving on his first flight from Wasserkuppe to Gersfeld. He made a successful trip.

PEACHERINO SQUAW.—Miss Blue Meadow, otherwise known as Eliza Cowapoo, defeated all comers at the famous Pendleton (Oregon) roundup, and was officially judged the most beautiful Indian girl in America.

FORGOT WATCH.—Carl Gustaf Oscar, hereditary Prince of Sweden, whose father's brother is King Gustaf of Sweden, was snatched in the grasp of a gardener's boy, but he forgot to remove his jeweled wrist watch.

A LOST COLLAR BUTTON? NOPE, JUST FOOTBALLERS.—Showing one of the unique methods of training employed by the coaching staff in preparing the Harvard footballers for the variety skirmishes to come. This inspiring spectacle which might be appropriately titled the "Disappearance of the Festive Collar Button," is calculated to harden the heads—beg pardon, harden the muscles, and make the demon gladiators generally fit for a gosh awful time of it.

The Sandman Story For To-night

MRS. MOUSE TALKS TO PUSS

When Mrs. Mouse decided to stay in the pantry wall with her five baby mice the older mice all exclaimed: "How foolish! Puss is sure to get you. What a shame it is that you live with that cat!"

Mrs. Mouse was not quite certain whether the old mice that lived in the pantry wall wanted to get rid of her because there would be five more to eat the good things found on the pantry shelves or whether they were really concerned about her young children.

Anyway, Mrs. Mouse did not want to move for she liked cheese and there would be none to eat if she moved into the barn. So she thought she would try a scheme that had popped into her wise little head while she was thinking it over.

"I think I will stay here for a while," she told great-granny mouse,

"I would be rather hard for me to cross the yard with five little ones so I think I will risk staying here."

"You won't be troubled with a large family to move if you stay here," said Great Granny. "There won't be any one but you to go if I am and judge of that new puss who has come here to live."

Mrs. Mouse did not answer. She was thinking about her scheme and a few minutes later Great Granny Mouse was very much surprised at what she saw and heard.

Mrs. Mouse was sitting by the hole in the pantry wall, not close enough for puss who was sitting outside to reach her, but close enough so puss could hear what she said.

In the first place Mrs. Mouse had been watching for puss. And when she came into the pantry she let the tip end of her little nose be seen, and then she quickly dodged.

"That was what Great Granny saw and this is what she heard: "O, my dear puss, what a shame the family treat you so badly!"

"What do you mean?" said Puss, surprised into asking a question when she intended to keep quiet and catch a mouse for her dinner.

"I mean," said Mrs. Mouse, "that City of Victoria unless the said parcels are shown on a plan filed in the Land Registry Office."

ROTARY CELEBRATES TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Rotarians Hear Miles Higley, District Governor

Establishment of Juvenile Court Here Advocated

In celebration of their tenth year of existence in this city, the Rotary Club members, with their wives, last night enjoyed a dinner and social evening in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, at which were present about three hundred persons. Miles Higley, of Spokane, Governor of No. 1 District of Rotary, made an address as one part of the programme for the evening, in which he emphasized the necessity of Rotarians, and others to live up to their responsibilities as citizens. Mr. Higley pointed out that the nations were made up of individuals and that these of necessity had to live up to the standards demanded of them as loyal subjects of their respective countries and as respected citizens of their communities. That it was the duty of Rotarians to live up to the code of Rotary in every sense of the word, was his particular plea.

The subject of the care for the youth of the nation was brought to the attention of the Rotarians by Mrs. J. D. Gordon, Mrs. Schofield, and Mr. Higley. These speakers spoke of the necessity for the establishment of a juvenile court in Victoria. It was pointed out that the young boys of the community, who may be led into crime of one sort or another, should be judged by a court free from ordinary police administration. The evils of the jail, in which delinquent youths were sometimes housed, together with older criminals, was something which had a tendency to make youthful offenders worse instead of better, the speakers maintained. Thus, the establishment of a juvenile court in Victoria was urged, and the support of Rotary solicited.

The Rev. Col. Youngblood, who has spent a great part of his life in India, gave an address on "The British Problem in India." In the course of his remarks he pointed out the changes which were coming about in the government of that great branch of the Empire in Asia. Many of the youths of India, born of British parentage, were seeking homes in other parts of the world, and many would, eventually, come to Canada. "Here," said the speaker, "they expect to find welcome and new homes."

Seven of the charter members of the Victoria Rotary Club, whose work in the past for the good of the organization has been so great, were last night presented with tokens of appreciation by the club. Mr. Higley made the presentations. The members who were thus honored were: Carl Pendray, H. P. Johnston, A. Mallett, S. Drake, W. Gibson, P. British, and J. Hunter. These were direct and indirect, which might be derived from the sale of such timber if manufactured within our own country.

"And whereas the imposition of an export duty on all of our timber in the unfinished state would naturally result in the removal of our industrial plants to Canada by those foreigners who are now depleting our forests."

Therefore, he it resolved that, in the opinion of this meeting, an export duty should be imposed on all our timber in the unfinished state sufficiently high to bring about the desired results.

Hon. J. D. MacLean, M.D., Minister of Education, was re-elected honorary president, while Dr. P. J. Nicholson, of Vancouver, is the new first vice-president; Mayor G. T. Smythe, Duncan, again second vice-president, and Trustee J. E. Wilton, Point Grey, again secretary-treasurer. The executive committee of the following: Dr. H. Felton, Sooke; Capt. G. A. Grant, Burnaby; Mrs. J. R. Sheppard, Richmond; Mrs. L. McWilliams, Vancouver. Mr. Grant was a member of the late executive.

Kamloops was selected as the place at which the 1924 convention will be held.

The convention went on record against forcing the principle of school consolidation without the approval of individual boards, believing in a policy first to educate individual trustees in the merits of the scheme.

School Consolidation
The convention went on record against forcing the principle of school consolidation without the approval of individual boards, believing in a policy first to educate individual trustees in the merits of the scheme.

Single Teacher Schools
The convention decided to ask for increased supervision of one-teacher schools as a means of solving the present difficulties in regard to them. The association agreed to agitate for music being placed in the high school curriculum as an optional subject for matriculation into university. Instruction to be taken privately by the pupils. The matter will be taken up with the University of British Columbia Senate.

Approval of a resolution from the Provincial Parent-Teacher Federation that children be admitted to receiving classes only during the first two weeks of each school term unless by transfer, was refused, a suggestion from Harry Charlesworth, secretary of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation, that after the first night period was up at the beginning of each term, the receiving class teachers and principals have the privilege of refusing those children who had not reached the age of seven and who were of a mental age likely to prove a drawback to the class, being also rejected.

NATIVE SONS DISCUSS LUMBER BUSINESS

Seek Export Duty on All Unfinished Lumber

A resolution urging an export duty on lumber received the endorsement of the Native Sons of Canada, Victoria branch, at a regular session last night. The resolution follows: "Whereas the forest wealth of Canada is rapidly being depleted under our present system of permitting its removal to foreign countries in the unfinished state;

"And whereas, under existing conditions, the export of lumber is being followed by our rough timber into foreign countries in order to obtain employment where it is being manufactured;

"And whereas the revenue derived from the sale and removal of our timber in the rough state is infinitesimal when compared with the revenue which would be derived from the sale of such timber if manufactured within our own country;

"Therefore, be it resolved that, in the opinion of this meeting, an export duty should be imposed on all our timber in the unfinished state sufficiently high to bring about the desired results."

Hon. J. D. MacLean, M.D., Minister of Education, was re-elected honorary president, while Dr. P. J. Nicholson, of Vancouver, is the new first vice-president; Mayor G. T.
